Many institutions command immediate attention solely by means of their location; such a structure is the Capitol in Washington, D. C. Erected on a lofty pinnacle, it can be readily seen from almost any point in the city; and thus it has won the respect and admiration of all Americans as a symbol of their freedom.

In some respects, South Hills Catholic can be compared to the Capitol. Constructed on a high plateau and bounded by four different communities, it can hardly be overlooked by passers-by. To all those who know South Catholic, it, too, has become a symbol—a symbol of intellectual achievements through Christian education.

The school itself is a three-story structure, characterized throughout by some of the most modern architectural techniques. The overall design of the entire campus is functional as well as picturesque.

South Catholic's importance lies not only in its construction but also in its accomplishments and its facilities. Although a young school, South can boast of one of the best and most diversified athletic programs in this area. Moreover, the fruits of such a program are evident from the fine success the school has enjoyed in the major sports. Likewise in the non-athletic field, great acclaim has been evoked through the many organizations—band, debate, and numerous others—and the honor societies affiliated with the Pittsburgh Diocese. Through constant efforts to improve the curriculum, such advanced teaching methods as private rosters and language labs have been adopted this past year.

All these aspects make South the great school it is. The greatest motivating force in the school's progressive improvement has been the foresight of the administration and the subsequent co-operation of the student body.

CLOSING 172

In every organization there is always one person without whom efficiency would be impossible. At South Hills Catholic this individual is Mr. Frank Murphy. Whether it is change for a quarter or a burnt out light bulb that needs replacing, "Murph" is the man to see. Mr. Murphy's task is by no means an easy one. He must be at South in the pre-dawn hours to ready the school for the arrival of the students. During the winter months it is often necessary for "Murph" to clear the area of snow to make the school more accessible to the student body. It is through the helpfulness of Mr. Murphy that life at South Catholic is a little bit easier and more enjoyable.

In February 1962, the Student Council sponsored a "Murphy Day Assembly" which gave the student body an opportunity to express its gratitude for the work done by Mr. Murphy. As a concluding gesture of appreciation, we, the members of the Class of 1964, wish to dedicate this edition of the South Hills Catholic KNIGHT to Mr. Frank Murphy, the keystone of our successful operation.

in recognition of service

south catholic

My observations of South Hills Catholic students emanate from an admittedly prejudiced eye and a heart which could not be considered detached sufficiently to be objective in making a public commentary on our student body. However, the very fact that these South students merit such admiration and command such affection from me tells the story in brief. The capsule story behind the scenes here at South can be highlighted by the words:

I PRIDE (in its best form)

II GENEROSITY (in all its forms)

The first, lasting and most outstanding impression made upon me is that our students have tremendous pride in their school. This is evident whenever any student or group of students represent the school in public. This pride, I believe, is the key to the success of our outstanding Band, Athletics, Dramatics, Debaters, Gentlemen of Song, student boosters, etc.

The other outstanding characteristic is generosity which includes the generous spirit of cooperation, wholehearted support of activities, drives, and charities. Their cheerfulness and friendliness may be expressed by simply stating "they have heart." May these qualities ever remain characteristic of our students and alumni.

skillful administrators

MR. JOHN CICCO
Assistant Superintendent of Schools

A good education must be founded on thoroughly established Christian principles. These principles are an integral part of the diocesan administration. In the government of the Pittsburgh Diocese, we are privileged to have the dedicated services of three of the greatest educators in the United States: Bishop John J. Wright, Msgr. John B. McDowell, and Mr. John Cicco. Through the efforts of these men, the diocese of Pittsburgh has gained a wide-spread reputation as a center of social activity and Christian education.

The responsibility for the organization and structure of our diocese rests upon the shoulders of our administrators. The governing of an educational system is by no means a simple task, but these leaders have done well and have enabled the Pittsburgh Diocese to operate successfully as an educational system.

The government of an educational system is, of course, not limited to a general administration. We are more immediately supervised by our own school administration composed of Brother F. Alfred, Brother F. Bernard, and Mr. Bernard Powers. Brother Alfred is an experienced, highly-informed educator who has given South the motivating force necessary to improve and maintain its status as an educational institution. Brother Bernard has served as Vice-Principal of South Hills Catholic since 1956. Brother has done a three-fold job as teacher, counselor, and disciplinarian in his work to make South Catholic the outstanding school it is. The bulwark of the school's athletic department has, for the past three years, been Mr. Bernard Powers. Mr. Powers has done a great deal to increase the respect in which South Catholic is held by the schools in the Pittsburgh area. We owe a great debt of gratitude to these men who have done so much to help South Hills Catholic achieve such an outstanding reputation.

The English language has always been a notoriously ineffective medium in which to express one's attitude toward anyone else or to any organization, for that matter. How do I feel about South? This will have to suffice for me: Eight years ago I considered myself fortunate in having been named as one of its original faculty members. Every year since 1956 has served only to re-enforce that opinion.

BROTHER GREGORY ALEXIS
Member of Founding Faculty

If SHC is more than just a physical structure today, it is because its spirit originated with a group of boys eight years ago who plowed through the mud of unpaved roads to attend class where frequently gloves and overcoats were necessary. This same spirit and love for our school was inspired in our beginning year by a small, competent and dedicated teaching staff. This traditional spirit, I hope, has become as much a part of our school as the bricks and mortar. It explains our early attainment of great heights, academically and athletically. To me it explains particularly our swift rise in the sport with which I am most concerned—basketball.

JERRY CONBOY
Member of Founding Faculty

A studious junior unconsciously displays his newly acquired SHC class ring which he received on December 10.

In the Chemistry laboratory, South Catholic Juniors are given a chance to learn the basic techniques used in chemical experiments. Here Charlie Adams and Bob Opferman separate sulfur and sodium chloride by filtration.

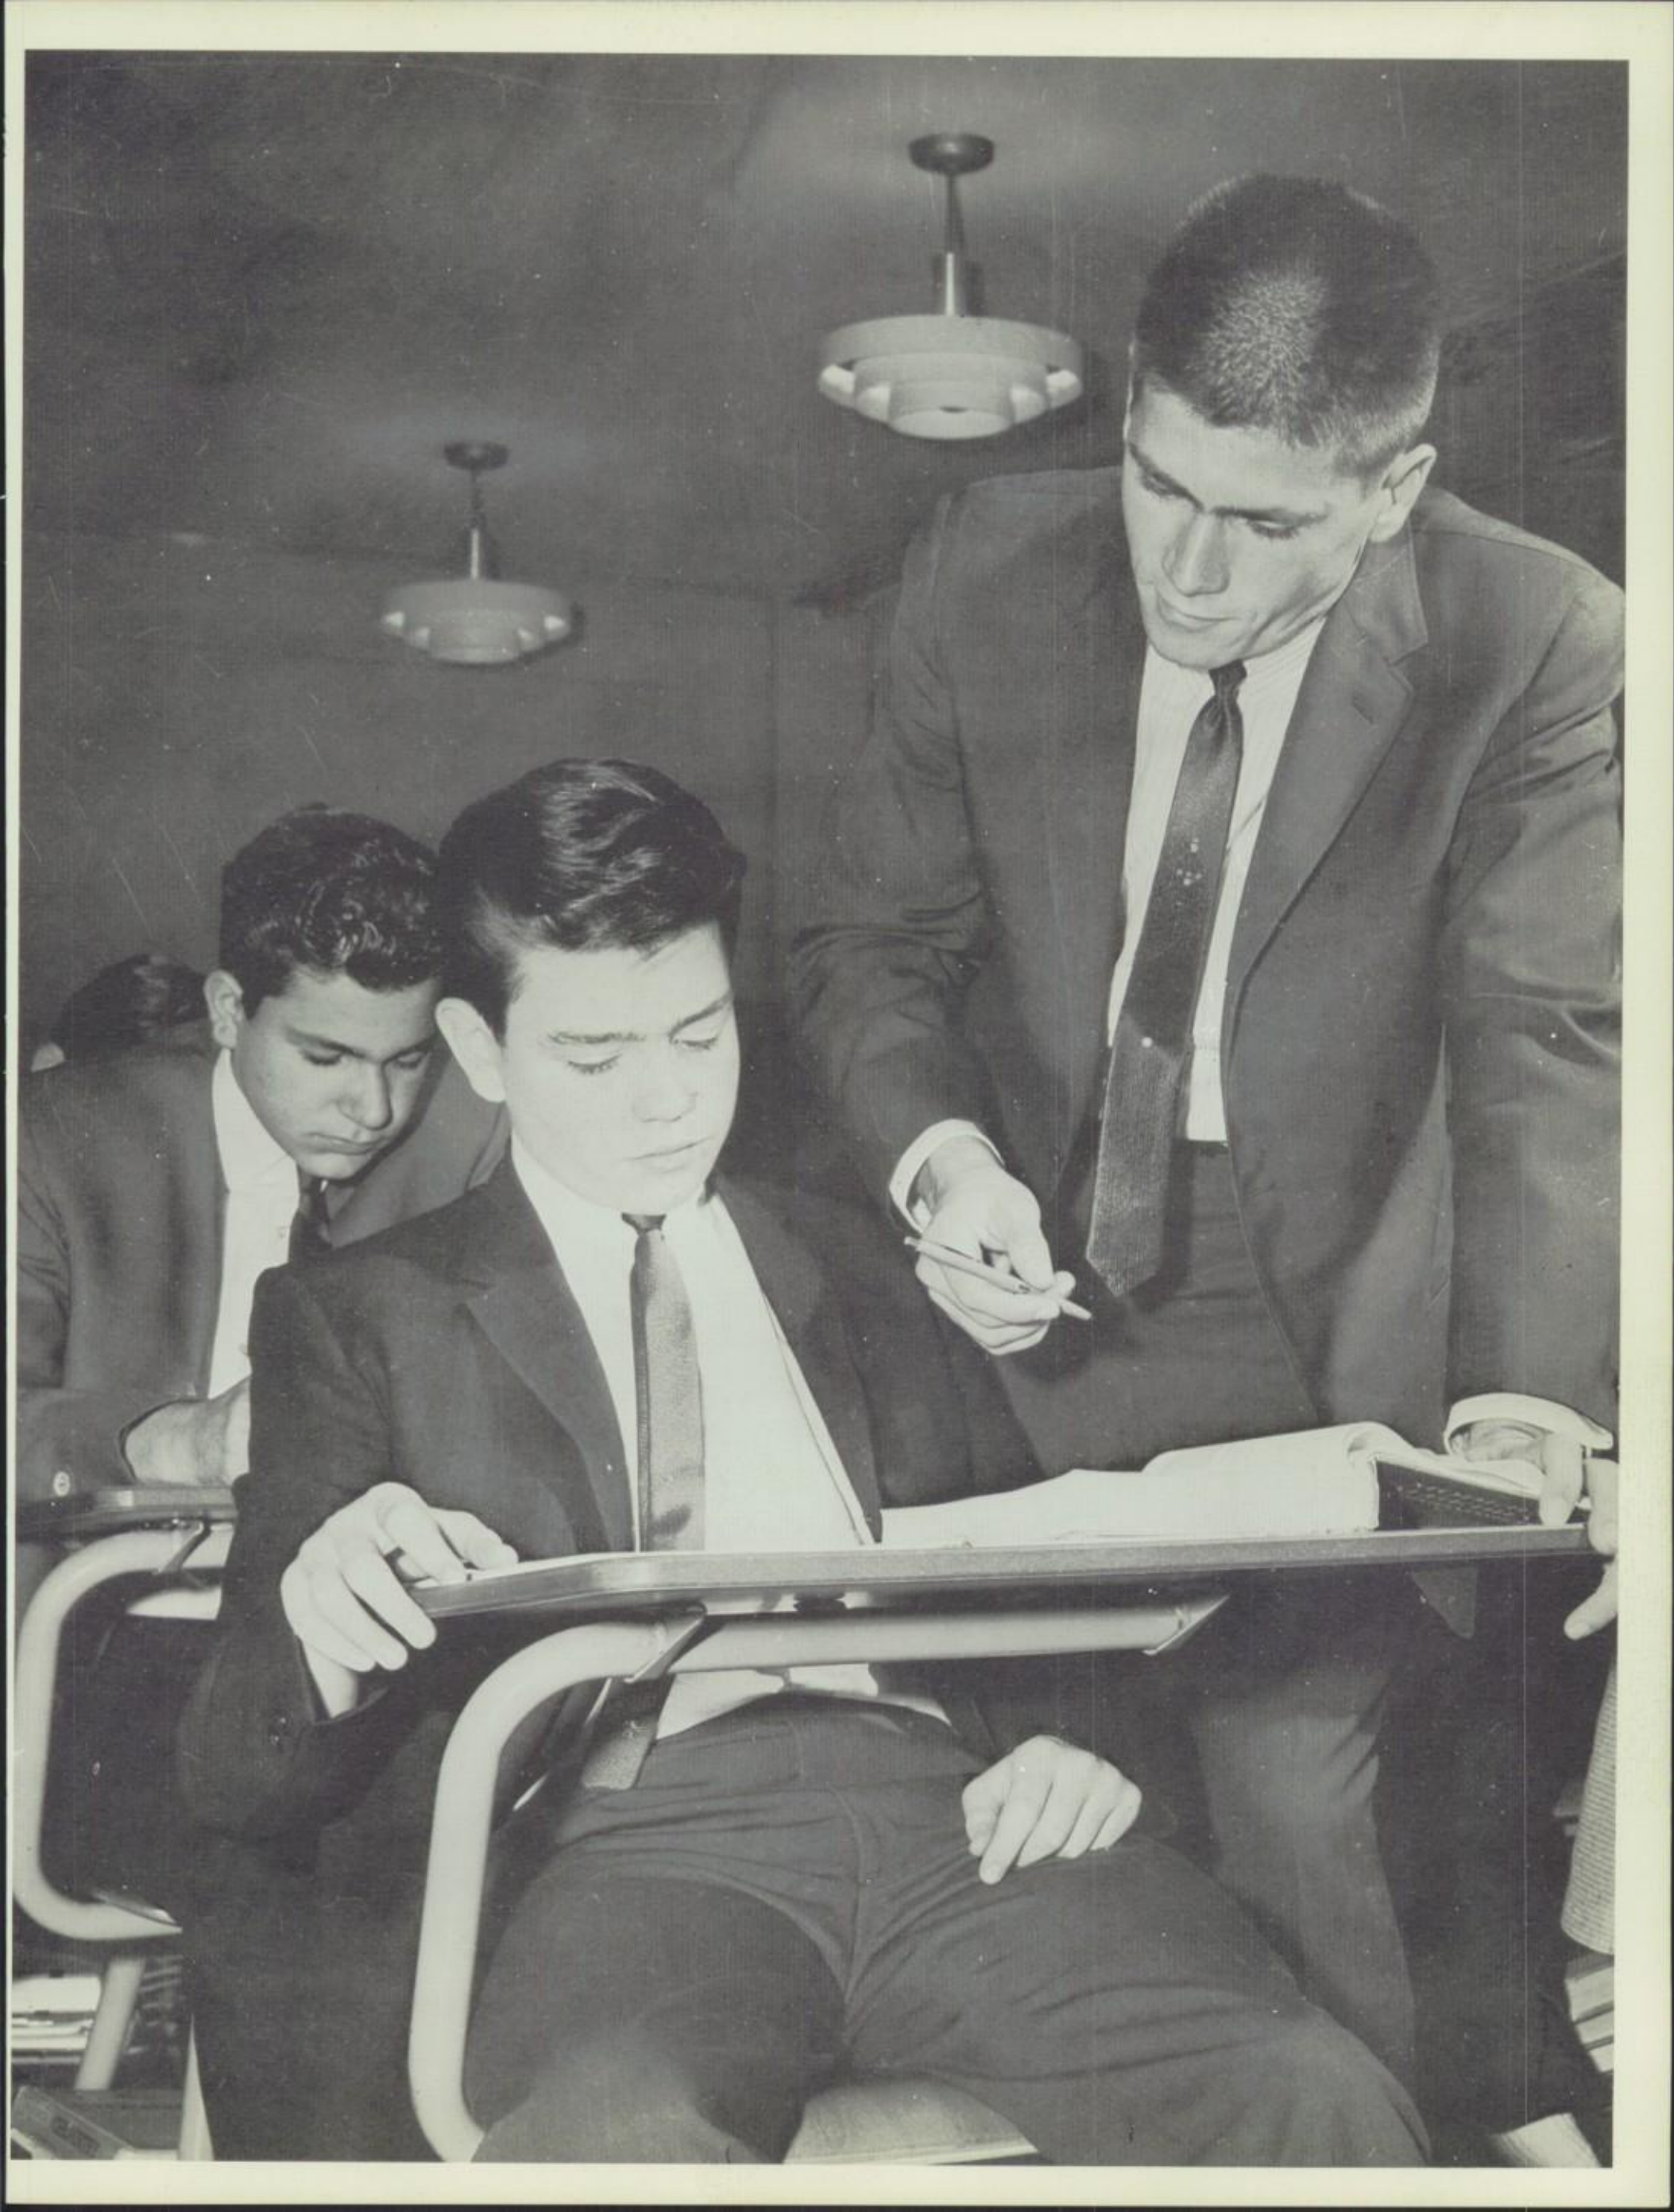

Brother Kieran reads a sequence from Lowell's descriptive poem "The Vision of Sir Launfal" as an absorbed Junior class strives to discern its meaning.

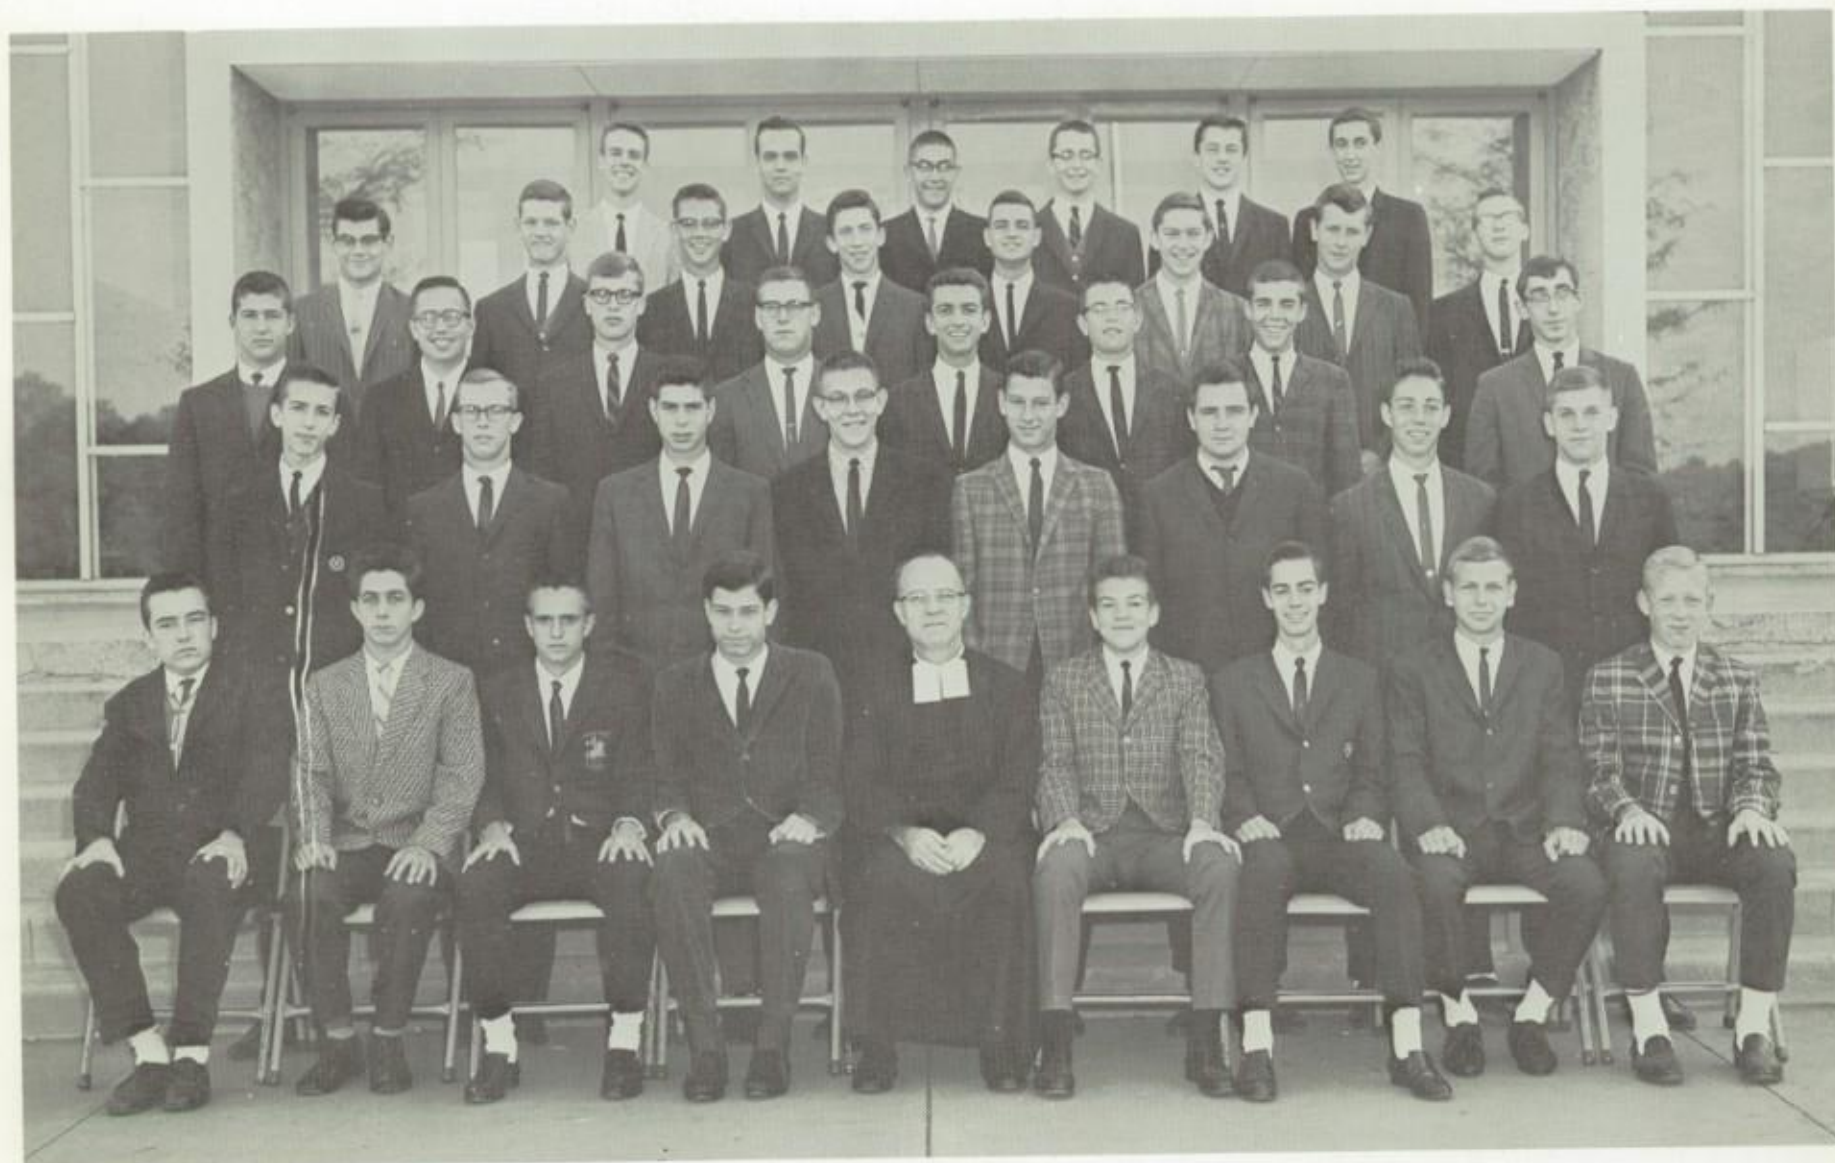

The old saying that actions speak louder than words is often practiced by Brother Fidelian with demonstrations supplementing his lectures. With these, the students can better grasp the essentials of chemistry.

Mr. Gallagher points out some of the particulars of Algebra II to Ed Hammill. Such personal interest enables the student to perfect the skills and understanding of mathematics.

south catholic

With the advent of our freshman year, we were drawn to activities in which we could best express ourselves and utilize our talents. These enterprises were almost as essential as our educational endeavors and the after-school hours we spent were well invested in the development of skill, self-discipline, and the ability to cooperate with others.

We strove for the formation of strong character and for a mature development of soul, mind, and body. Extra-curricular activities became a part of this development second only to school work itself. Our participation in these efforts is no small stone in the foundation of a hopefully wholesome and rewarding life.

STUDENT LIFE

A student's life is, by no means, composed of purely academic endeavors. He must strive to prepare himself to face the rigors of the world at-large. To better prepare himself for his future life, a South Hills Catholic student has the opportunity to enter many varied and interesting extracurricular activities. The idea that a student's sole task is to gain specific and often repetitious facts, is now a thing of the past. It has become increasingly more important for the student to enter into those activities which he feels will best enable him to develop his mind and body, and give him the chance to express himself to the fullest of his talents.

Students at South Catholic are indeed privileged to have such a fine school which can offer such a wide field of activities. Our school has become noted throughout the South Hills area for its athletic and scholastic achievements. Working closely with the members of the faculty and coaching staff, only a foolish student can fail to gain some of the extra knowledge which only the experience of co-operating with others can bring.

Top: Fred Cennane answers a difficult question in Mr. John Walasik's English IV class. The most important aspect of student life is the acquisition of knowledge.

Left: Student life is not all studies, however. Here a group of students and their dates enjoy the pizza party following the pep rally for the North Catholic football game.

Bottom: Brother Henry aids Gary Heatherington in the understanding of a complex problem in algebra. The faculty's personal interest in the students often leads to a better outlook on life as well as a better insight into studies.

At 2:45 PM the dismissal bell sounds the end of the school day and some of the students head for home and homework either by bus or on foot. Many pupils remain at school to participate in extracurricular activities or to improve their scholastic techniques.

ROUNDTABLE

The ROUNDTABLE, SHC's literary journal, is the creation of Mr. Philip Baracca, the school librarian. This year it was moderated by Mr. John Clair. The journal, in magazine form, is a compilation of short stories, essays, and literary criticisms written and edited by the participating students. It is hoped by the advocates of this activity that the ROUNDTABLE will foster a literary flare at South Hills Catholic and bring out some of the journalistic talents of its students.

Miles McCue and Gerry Schweiger prepare articles for the QUEENSMAN. By working on the school's newspaper, student writers are given the opportunity to learn the duties and problems of journalism.

QUEENSMAN

Brother Daniel John, moderator of the QUEENSMAN, discusses the layout of the paper with editor-in-chief Dan McKinley. It is detailed work such as this which makes the school paper so outstanding.

QUEENSMAN staff members Gerry Schweiger, Frank Scattaregia, Brother D. John, John McGannon, and Bill Thieman proof-read a new edition of the paper in order to be sure that it conforms to the school's high standards.

Junior reporters John McGannon, Bill Thieman, and Frank Scattaregia interview a faculty member as preparation for the writing of a QUEENSMAN article.

Under the diligent leadership of Brother D. Kieran, the 1964 KNIGHT promises to be a praiseworthy successor to the previous editions of the South Hills Catholic yearbook. This year's staff, lead by Co-editors Chuck Carlise and Dave Kelly, compiled a book with a new and most interesting photographic representation of life at South Catholic.

As in years past, The KNIGHT staff was composed of two senior editors, ably aided by assistant editors Paul Rossbach, Rich Porach and Paul Latchaw. The photography work was capably handled by Jack Brubach and Hill's Studio. The excellent design of the cover is the work of Mr. John McKenna, a former teacher of art at South Catholic. We are sure that the hard work on the part of Brother Kieran and his staff will be richly rewarded by the reception of the praises of the student body.

FORENSICS

Claude Graham, Tom Szymanski, Frank Altman, and Mark Galligan form the nucleus of the extemporaneous speaking team.

Mr. Daniel Henry coached and moderated the forensics team through a long and difficult schedule of tournaments.

Although few realize it, forensics ranks with the two or three activities at South Hills Catholic which bring the school most attention. Hardly a week goes by that the daily bulletin fails to herald various members of the forensics club for their achievements in the numerous weekend speech tournaments. And this is rightly so, because the advocates of forensics have turned man's most often utilized form of expression into an art, an art which is exploited to its utmost by this SHC organization.

The speech and debate club can be divided into four main activities. The first of these is original oratory, in which the participant prepares a formal speech on a topic of his choice. In oratorical declamation the speeches of famous orators are delivered. The other two categories have a less formal air; they encompass the quick thinking necessary for everyday conversation. In extemporaneous speaking, a contestant is given a number of minutes to prepare a timed speech on an assigned topic. Debate features a formal conversation on a given resolution between two opposing teams who attempt to break down each other's arguments while definitely establishing their own.

Triumphant in many tournaments were orators Frank Masur, Marc Adams, Doug Marvin, Tom Hartz, and Joe Amma.

The members of the Forensics team were: First step: Marc Adams and the moderator Mr. Henry; Second step: Claude Graham and Tom Hartz; Third step: Joe Misner and Tom Szymanski; Fourth step: Clif Tuttle and Dan Cusick; Fifth step: Frank Masur and Mark Galligan; Sixth step: Joe Amma and Doug Marvin; Seventh step: Frank Altman and Dan McKinley.

The debate team included negative debaters Clif Tuttle and Joe Misner and the affirmative team of Dan McKinley and Dan Cusick.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Santa Claus, ably played by John Boros, passes out gifts at the annual Christmas party for the boys from Toner Institute.

The Toner boys enjoyed their snacks in South's library—a popular part of the Christmas party.

Paul Grefenstette, Gerry Schweiger, Jim O'Toole, Paul Rossbach, Mr. Herman Yannone, Larry Broderick, Phil Kravic, Richard Debski, Charles Carlise, Scott Evans, and Ray Brannon make up the school Spirit Committee.

SHC Student Council officers Mike Gannon, Rich Bell, and Alan Munkittrick meet with student officers from Fontbonne Academy, St. Francis Academy, and Elizabeth Seton High School at a quad-council meeting.

Following the standards set down in past years, the 1963-64 Student Council continued to deepen the roots of school tradition. Besides handling the annual Thanksgiving Canned Goods Drive for Toner and DePaul Institutes, the Council planned and arranged the Christmas Prom, this year's outstanding holiday social event.

This year's Council was headed by President Mike Gannon, Vice-President Al Munkittrick, Secretary Ed Kappler, and Treasurer Rich Bell. Mr. Yannone continued to serve as moderator. The rest of the legislative body was made up of presidents and vice-presidents from each homeroom. These students participated actively in the Quad Council, a group comprised of representatives from Elizabeth Seton High, St. Francis Academy, and Fontbonne Academy, as well as South. On February 11th, the Quad Council sponsored a Mardi Gras dance which was held at Fontbonne.

The Student Council arranged several assemblies throughout the year including the customary Christmas party for the boys from Toner, at which they were entertained and then given refreshments and gifts. The Council's chief project for this year was the installation of a trophy case in the main foyer. In short, the Council continued to emphasize the regular events that form the cornerstone of school tradition.

The athletic field is not the only place where a school is represented. The South Hills Catholic band is a perfect verification of this. Our school band is renowned wherever it appears, an honor which many of our athletic teams fail to attain. When the SHC concert band appears on the school stage at the annual Christmas assembly and the Spring Music Festival, we feel a deep and well-founded pride in our school. Especially when the marching band, executing perfect drill patterns, rocks the football stadium with such numbers as "Scheherajazz" and "The Pepsi Song," we feel a spirit akin to that experienced while watching the team. The year's initial work began at band camp at Wheeling College last August. This was followed by daily morning practices after the start of the school year. The highlights of the band year were the marching season, the concert season, and a tour. The band is directed by Messrs. Frank Zych and Ed Shiner and moderated by Brothers Richard Francis and Dominic Richard.

The concert band prepares to take Mr. Shiner's downbeat at the annual Christmas Assembly for the student body.

Mr. Shiner and Mr. Zych supervise and direct a morning band practice in preparation for the spring music festival.

GENTLEMEN OF SONG

President Chuck Bober, Vice-President Jim Hodos, and Secretary-Treasurer Rich Kilburg check over one of the many numbers in the Gents' repertoire.

"We're here to sing songs and hope that they will cheer you. We are rightly called the Gentlemen of Song . . ."

These words, sung to a bouncy tune, personally introduced the "Gents" to over thirty-five enthusiastic and receptive audiences during the '63-'64 season. This theme song was only one of the many new numbers which the thirty songsters added to their growing repertoire. White trousers and twenty new faces were also added to this year's performances.

The popularity of the Sun Spots and the Moonbeams rode high once again with eighty percent of the two groups consisting of new members.

This year Mr. Ted White was assisted in his direction of the "Gentlemen of Song" by an alumnus of the group, Mr. Ken Gianni. The highly spirited music makers enjoyed another fabulously successful year.

Mr. Ted White, director of the Gentlemen of Song, and his assistant Ken Gianni, who joined Mr. White this year, look over the score from a popular musical to pick a number that might be appropriate for the "Gents" to perform. The Gentlemen of Song repertoire was composed mainly of numbers from Broadway musical comedies, plus several movie themes.

The recent addition of the Moonbeams was the Gentlemen of Song answer to the hootenany craze. The group includes Jim Scotti, Denny Shannon, Tom Barrett, and Jim Farmerie.

The Sun Spots, supplying the teenage element at the Gents' performances, belt out their popular rendition of "Lover Boy." The Sun Spots' crazy antics are performed by Jim Hodos, Miles McCue, Paul Rossbach, Paul Latchaw, and Jim DiCola.

Little Mary Sunshine

The very proper ladies from Eastchester Finishing School (including Terry Mowad, Judy Feuer, and Patty O'Brien) and the always gallant Forest Rangers (including Paul Rossbach, Art Bulger, and Dave Reed) meet and mix at the "such a merry party" thrown by Little Mary for her guests.

Little Mary Sunshine (Ann Breniser) introduces Captain Jim (Rich Sieger) to Fleet Foot (Jim McCaffrey), the old and practically blind Indian guide who was her rescuer. Both Ann and Rich did great jobs in their satirical portrayals of the stars of yesterday's operettas.

Forest Ranger Paul Latchaw prepares to pose for a portrait with maid Nancy Twinkle, a soubrette played by Mary Ellen McPherson, as Paul Rossbach and Miles McCue struggle with the old-fashioned camera.

Where would the gay operetta of yesteryear be without a few Indians added for good measure? In this scene Chief Brown Bear (Amel Amado) accepts Billy Jester (George Ferito) as his adopted Indian son Yellow Feather.

Gracious Little Mary greets and captivates the Forest Rangers upon their arrival at the Colorado Inn. The valiant Forest Rangers include Miles McCue, Art Bulger, John Lawler, Jim Hodos, Dave Reitmeyer, Ken Gianni, Adrian Stout, Dave Reed, George Ferito, Dick Kilburg, Paul Rossbach, and Paul Latchaw.

Harry MacAfee (Tom Mackin) attempts to steal the scene from teenage idol Conrad Birdie (George Ferito) as Birdie sings "One Last Kiss" on the Ed Sullivan Show while Harry's daughter Kim (Marianne Guernsey) looks abashedly on.

Albert Peterson (Mark Becker) has every right to look dismayed as his domineering mother Mae (Janet Lilli) makes several snide remarks to his sweetheart Rose Alvarez (Barb Mullen).

"Bye, Bye, Birdie," presented by the SHC Masques on February 6, 7, 8 and 9 was undoubtedly the greatest dramatics success ever produced at South Catholic. The show, directed by Mr. Ted White, drew sell-out crowds three out of the four nights and could only be classified as a smash. The story revolved around the drafting of a singing idol, Conrad Birdie, into the Army and its effects on the lives of his manager and his public. The score featured such rousing numbers as "Honestly Sincere," "Telephone Hour," and "Gotta Lot of Living To Do" appealing particularly to the younger set as well as such relaxing music as "One Boy," "Put On a Happy Face," and "Talk to Me." The wide variety of music as well as the superior production accounted for the tremendous audience appeal that led to wide commendation from such a notoriety as the Catholic Theater Guild and countless others.

Hugo Peabody (Bud Beck) struggles hard to extract himself from a garbage can into which he has been carelessly shoved by Rosie who has just hurried off to find her Albert.

Waiters Paul Latchaw and Jim Di-Cola, bartender Jim Hodos, and dishwasher Miles McCue attempt unsuccessfully to persuade Rosie to talk to Albert who sings "Talk to Me."

BYE BYE BIRDIE

Conrad Birdie and guitar man Art Bulger survey the damage wrought by Conrad's delivery of "Honestly Sincere" in front of the Sweet Apple City Hall.

Rose cannot help but admire Albert's efforts as he recites the lyrics to a song he is in the process of writing: "One last kiss . . . gives so much bliss . . . what is your dentifrice?"

Kim MacAfee sings of the joys of womanhood as she changes into clothes that could hardly be described as feminine.

The adults of Sweet Apple and young Randolph MacAfee (Dennis Broderick) lament the faults of modern teenagers in "Kids."

The three harpies of the teen trio, played by Judy Feuer, Mary Beth Gray, and Pat Obarr, exhaustedly chant "We love you Conrad" for the four thousand seven hundred and twenty eighth time in keeping with their promise to sing the Birdie Song ten thousand times.

Conrad Birdie (George Ferito) unsuccessfully attempts to make an exit from the ice house as the determined kids of Sweet Apple force him to stay and "live."

Barb Mullen as Rosie introduces the audience to sultry Spanish Rose and cha chas with a makeshift model of her "handsome Latin lover from the Bronx."

The excited crowd of teenage fans and inquisitive adults sing the praises of the "fine, upstanding, average, modest, patriotic, healthy, normal, American boy" who is leaving his many admirers to enter the "big cold army for two long years."

Undoubtedly the highlight of the production was "Telephone Hour" in which the Sweet Apple teenagers avidly discussed a big event in their set. Kim and Hugo were "going steady."

Ursula Merkle (Mary Beth Gray) rocks Sweet Apple with the Conrad Birdie scream as she exhorts Kim not to abandon Conrad's legions for "dull old Hugo Peabody."

south catholic

Within the structure, physical, educational, and social, of South Hills Catholic High School, there is a harmony of spirit that permeates the atmosphere. It isn't something posted on the bulletin boards or resounded through the air at a football game or any other athletic event. It isn't the standing ovation given to our band or dramatics club. These are just outward reactions to this great spirit, a spirit that gives an air, a feeling that something great is going on, something that affects one and all. The administration, the faculty, and the students seem to have a common bond. This action could be the education of the boy or, better yet, the making of the man, the whole man. This action, this feeling, I believe, is the real spirit of South Hills Catholic. This is the bond that makes South Hills Catholic the great institution that it is, the bond that makes the South Hills Catholic boy proud and secure in the feeling that he is prepared with the full education of the whole man . . . academically, physically, and socially. This is as I see South Hills Catholic.

Rich Bell, a standout member of the '63 Knight eleven, cuts inside a North tackler for a critical first down. He was second leading rusher on a team noted for its backs.

Tom Pusateri, one of the few sophomores on the varsity squad, scrambles away from a would-be Canevin tackler, showing why he was a mainstay on the kick-off return unit.

South Hills Catholic, in defense of its first Catholic AA Championship, slipped to third place in the final standings. Consisting mostly of Juniors, this year's team compiled a seemingly unimpressive 2-5-2 record.

Sparked by the great running of Ernie Lewis, the proficient quarterbacking of Danny Darragh, and the excellent line led by "Big Mike" Perfetti and Mike Burns, the Rebels gave their opponents a hard fought battle in every game.

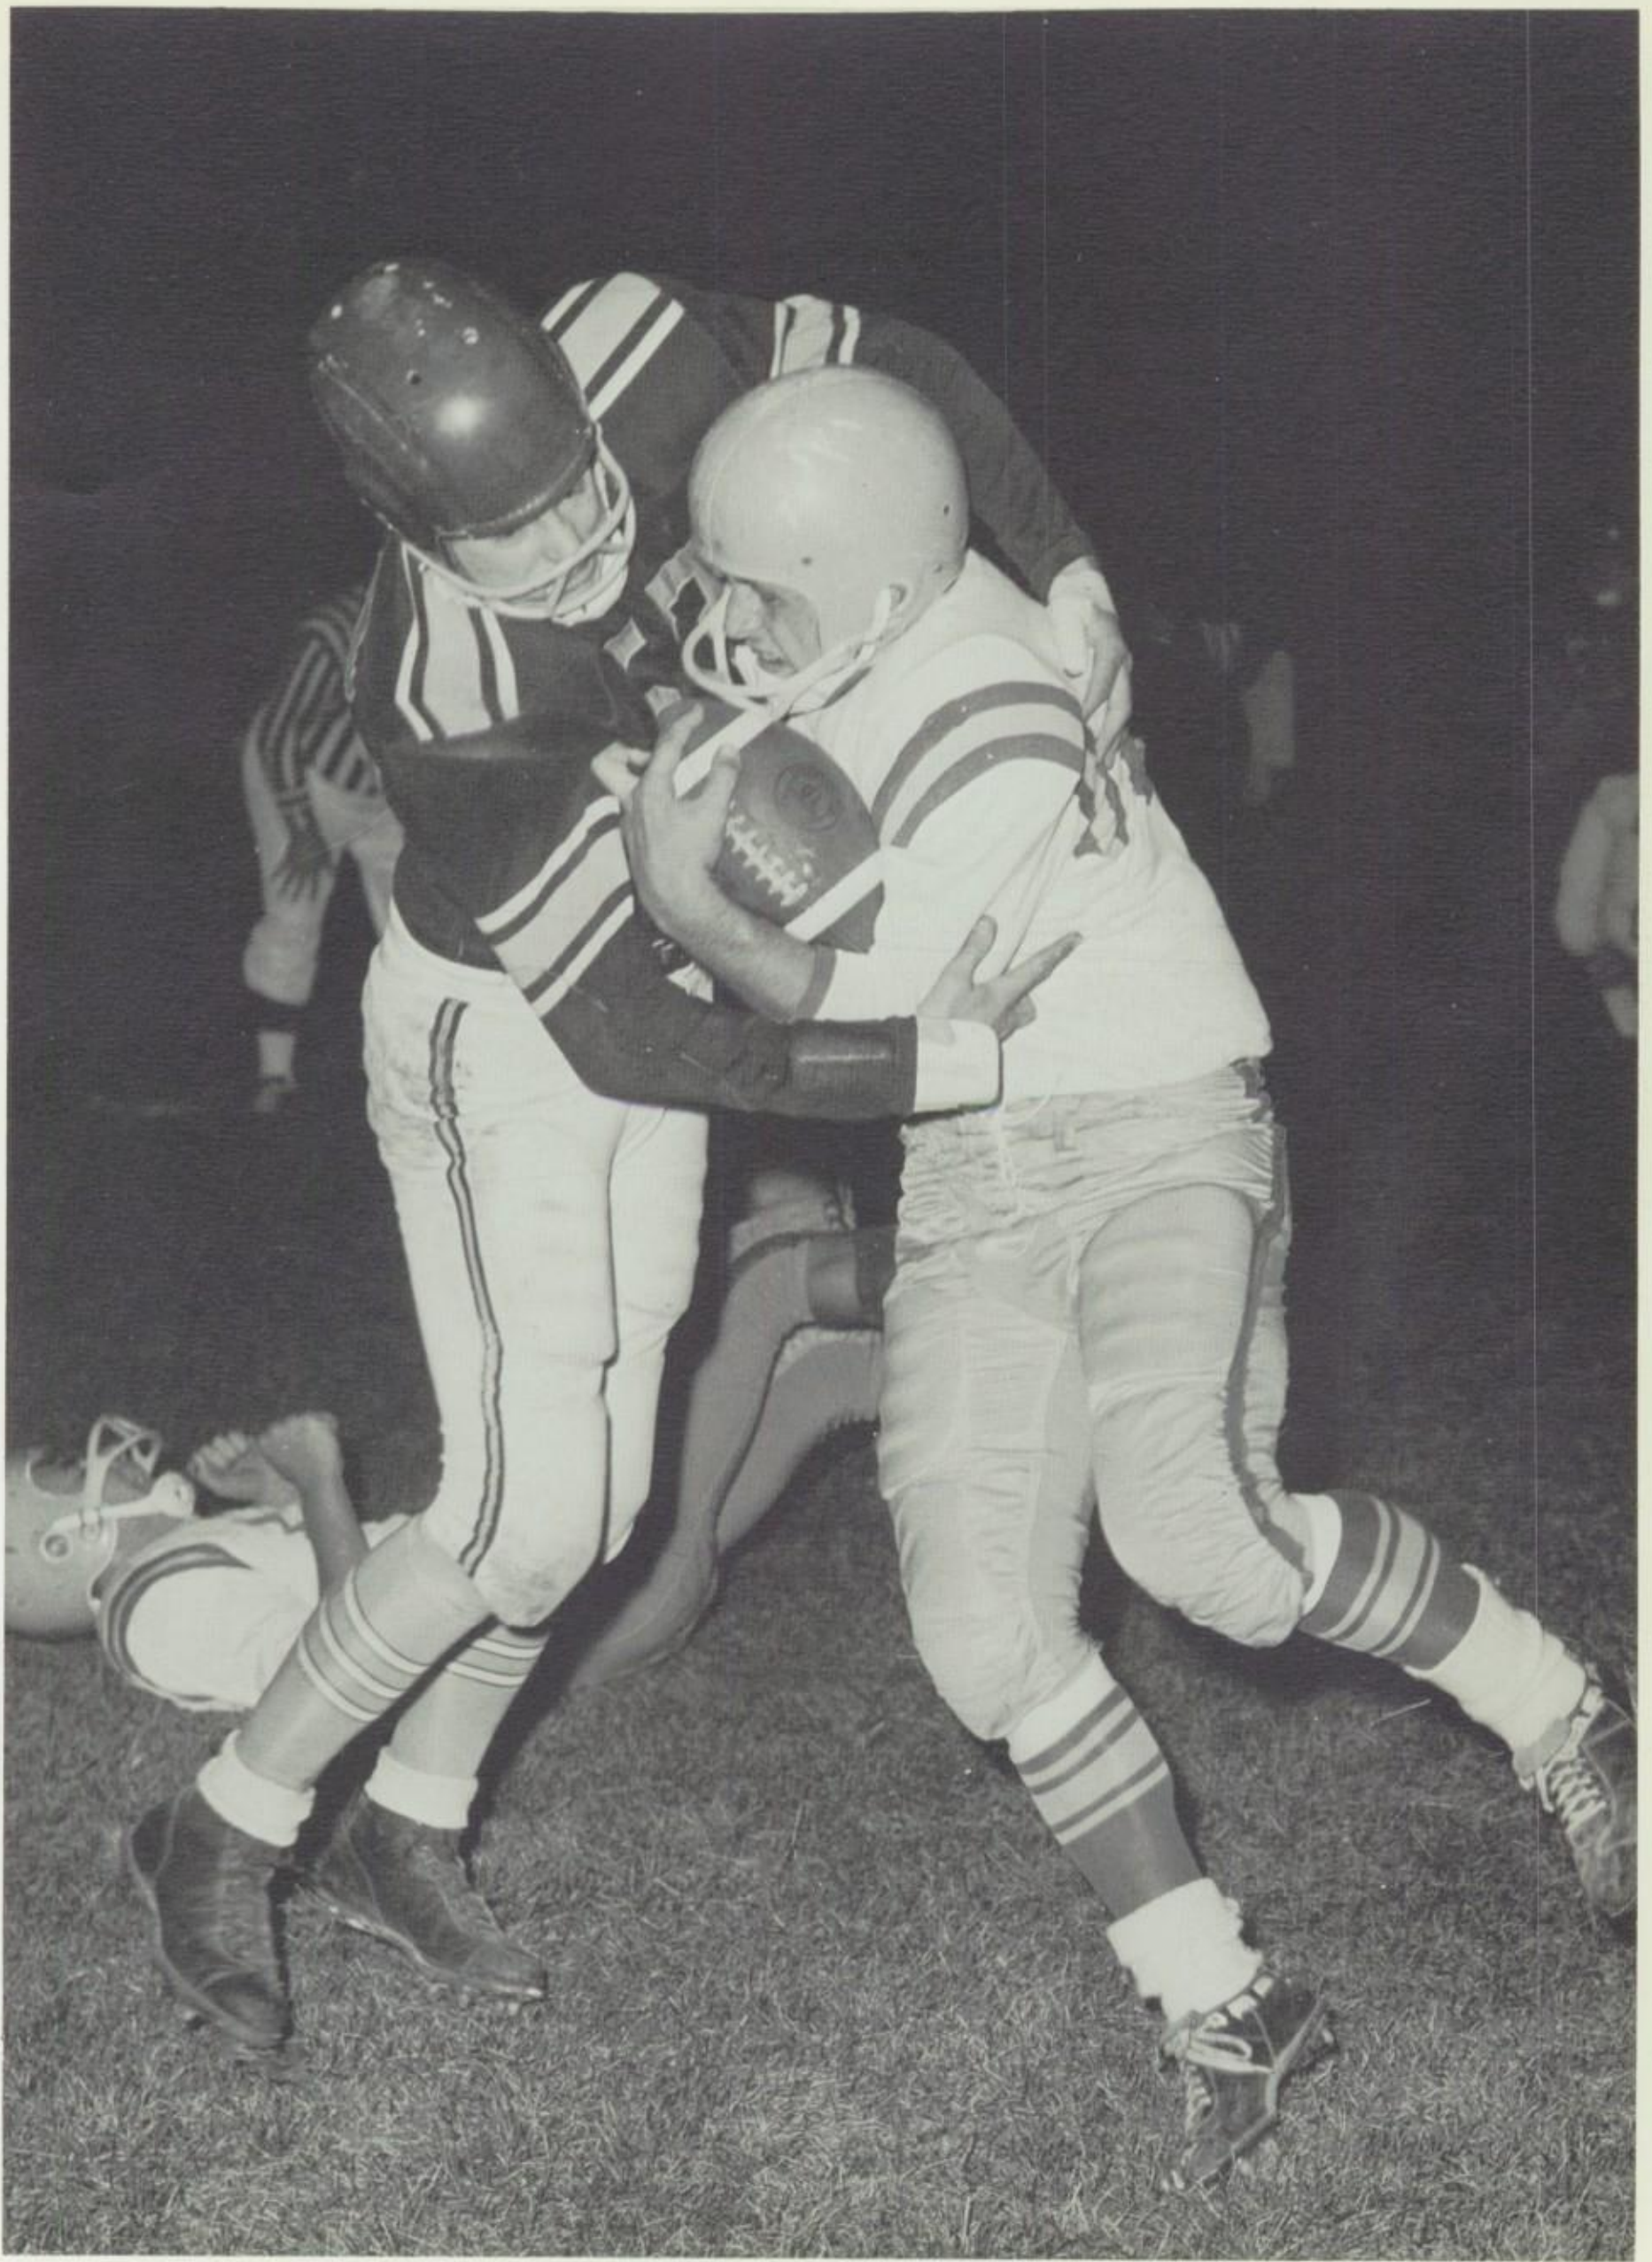

Ending the season with a league record of 2-1-1, the Rebels tied league winning North 6-6, beat Canevin 19-14, and Mon-Valley 20-19, while losing to Central 41-14. SHC also battled to a 0-0 tie with Wheeling Central Catholic, a team that went on to win the West Virginia State Championship.

Other outstanding Senior squad members were halfbacks: Rich Bell, Ed Kappler, and Hank Nerone; End: Ed McMullen; Tackle: Jim Hodos; Guards: Jack Regan, Cliff Austin and Terry Doran.

As a Mon Valley player endeavors to wrestle him to the ground, Ernie Lewis pushes forward with the power that enabled him to be chosen as South's most outstanding player. ►

Dan Darragh, one of the finest punters in the district, unleashes his best punt of the year against North Catholic. This punt was one of the reasons why South was the only team not defeated by the league champions.

Ed Cutler, one of the most promising youngsters on the team, cuts for a few more yards on one of his better kick-off returns.

Saint John's tacklers converge on Ernie Lewis, who, through a great second effort, dives for a touchdown. The highly favored Cadets found South a tough opponent, edging them 14-13, as Lewis tallied 7 points.

Ernie Lewis, standout halfback of the rebel squad, eludes two Canevin tacklers while picking up a vital first down.

Golden Knight team members charge onto the field after half-time at the Mon-Valley game. At this time, the score was tied 13-13, but the Rebels forged ahead 20-13 and held off a last Spartan rally to win 20-19.

Ed Kappler, SHC fullback, receives a pass from Dan Darragh in the Boys' Town game. Used mainly for blocking, his spirit and desire made him a first-rate fullback.

Coach Bernie Powers points out to his quarterback Dan Darragh a weakness in the opposing team's defense. Although the Knights' record was an unimpressive 2-5-2, Danny surprised many opponents with his excellent punting and accurate passing. While piloting a predominately Junior team, he showed fine poise and determination.

Team manager Mike Sapsara receives a varsity letter from Coaches Joe Wirth and Jim Palmer at the annual Fall Sports Banquet which honors the members of the '63 Knight gridiron squad and band.

J.V. FOOTBALL

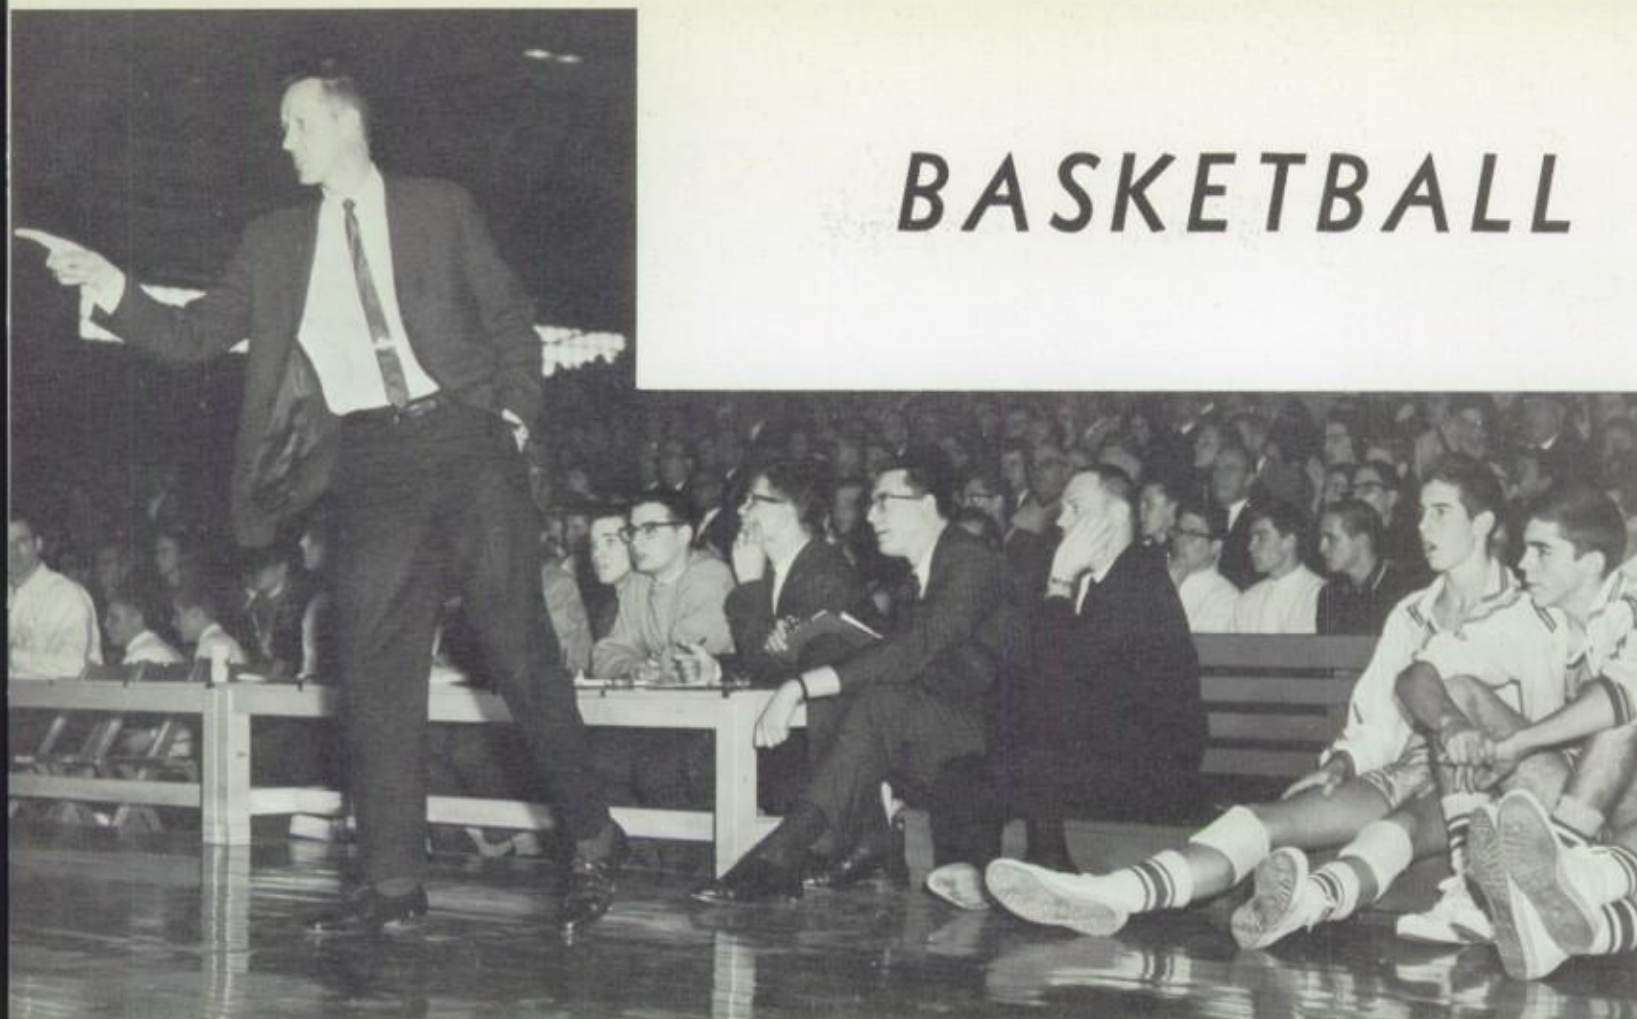

In an attempt to add scoring punch to the SHC attack, Steve Murphy shoots over a Central defender. At this time, the team was fighting to regain the lead despite the loss of top rebounders Bob Wolfensperger and Herb South.

South's Larry Conley sets himself and shoots for two points against Central Catholic. The Rebels were beaten by a strong Viking team by a score of 64-50.

High-scoring senior, Hank Nerone gets ready to complete a fast break, despite an all-out effort by a Serra Catholic defender. Following the play is Dave Welty.

BASKETBALL

Coach Gerry Conboy shouts instructions to his players in the Canevin game as concerned SHC fans follow the action.

Steve Murphy takes a critical jump shot in the Central game as Bob Wolfensperger circles in for a rebound.

Dave Welty grimaces as he drives around a belated North Catholic guard. Dave led the team as they stopped the Trojans 69-56.

In a brief moment of distress, the SHC squad calls time-out to pull their thoughts together. Coach Conboy's strategy proved successful as the Rebels tallied a resounding victory over Serra Catholic, the newest addition to the Catholic League.

Although outnumbered, Lew Lewin fights for a loose ball in the Har-Brack game, as Herb South moves in to help.

Co-Captain Larry Conley completes a fast break against Serra Catholic, as a Serra player makes a futile attempt to stop him.

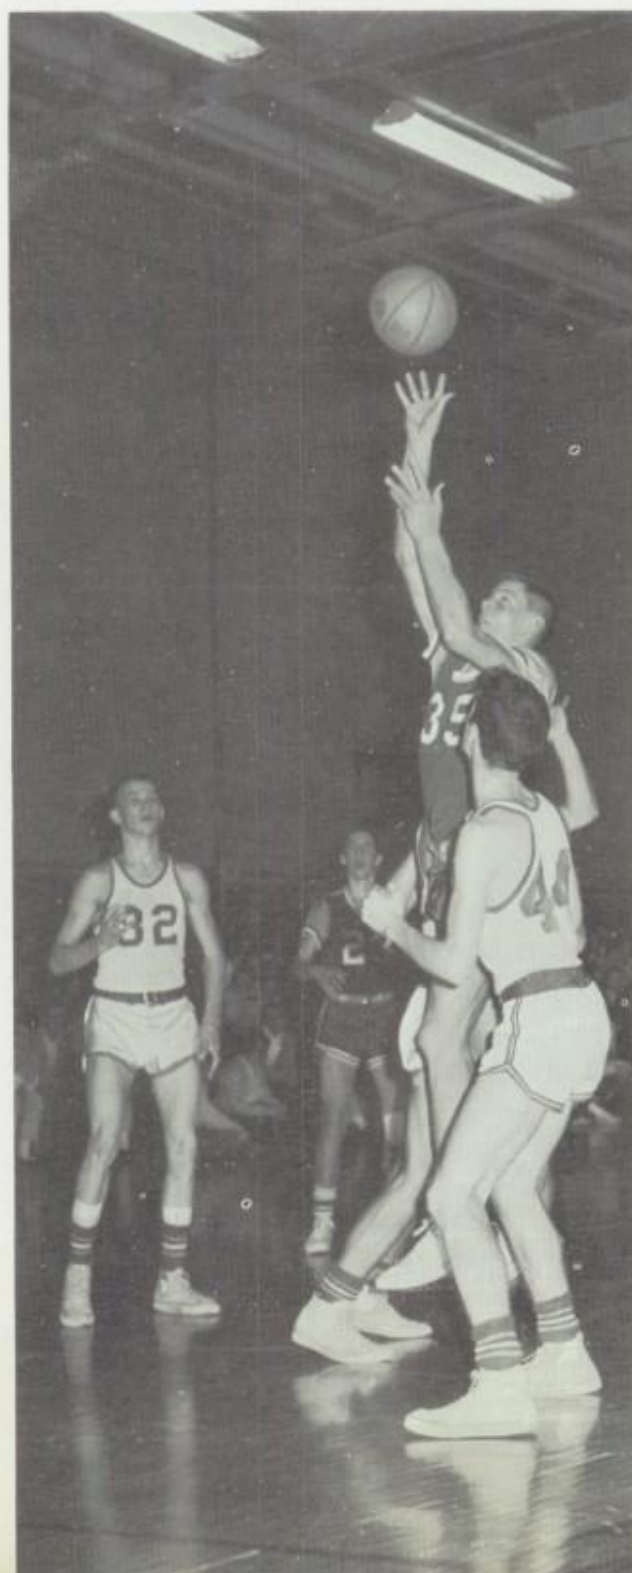

Bob Wolfensperger shoots for a basket against Central Catholic. "Wolf" did an outstanding job in both the North and Central games.

Dave Welty starts to drive around a Trojan player during the North Catholic game.

High scoring junior Hank South nets a goal for the Rebels against Central Catholic. Hank was also one of South's leading rebounders.

Attempting a shot, despite the outstretched arm of an Aliquippa player, is Larry Welsch. Steve Litz, the promising freshman rebounder, waits tensely.

Keeping an eye on the ball, Bill Parker prepares to tee off with a long drive.

Matt Purpura follows up his tee shot on this long fairway with a three iron shot.

Larry Broderick executes a chip shot onto the green during a match with North Catholic.

GOLF

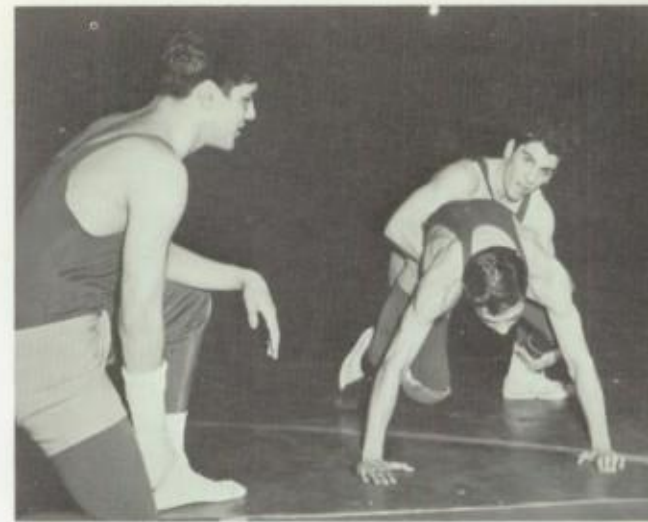

Having studied his ball's position, Bill Barker decides to use a five iron to get out of the rough.

The senior members of the golf team, Larry Broderick, Matt Purpura, Rich Grattan, Pat Piccioni, and Bill Barker are captured here in a jovial mood before a match.

WRESTLING

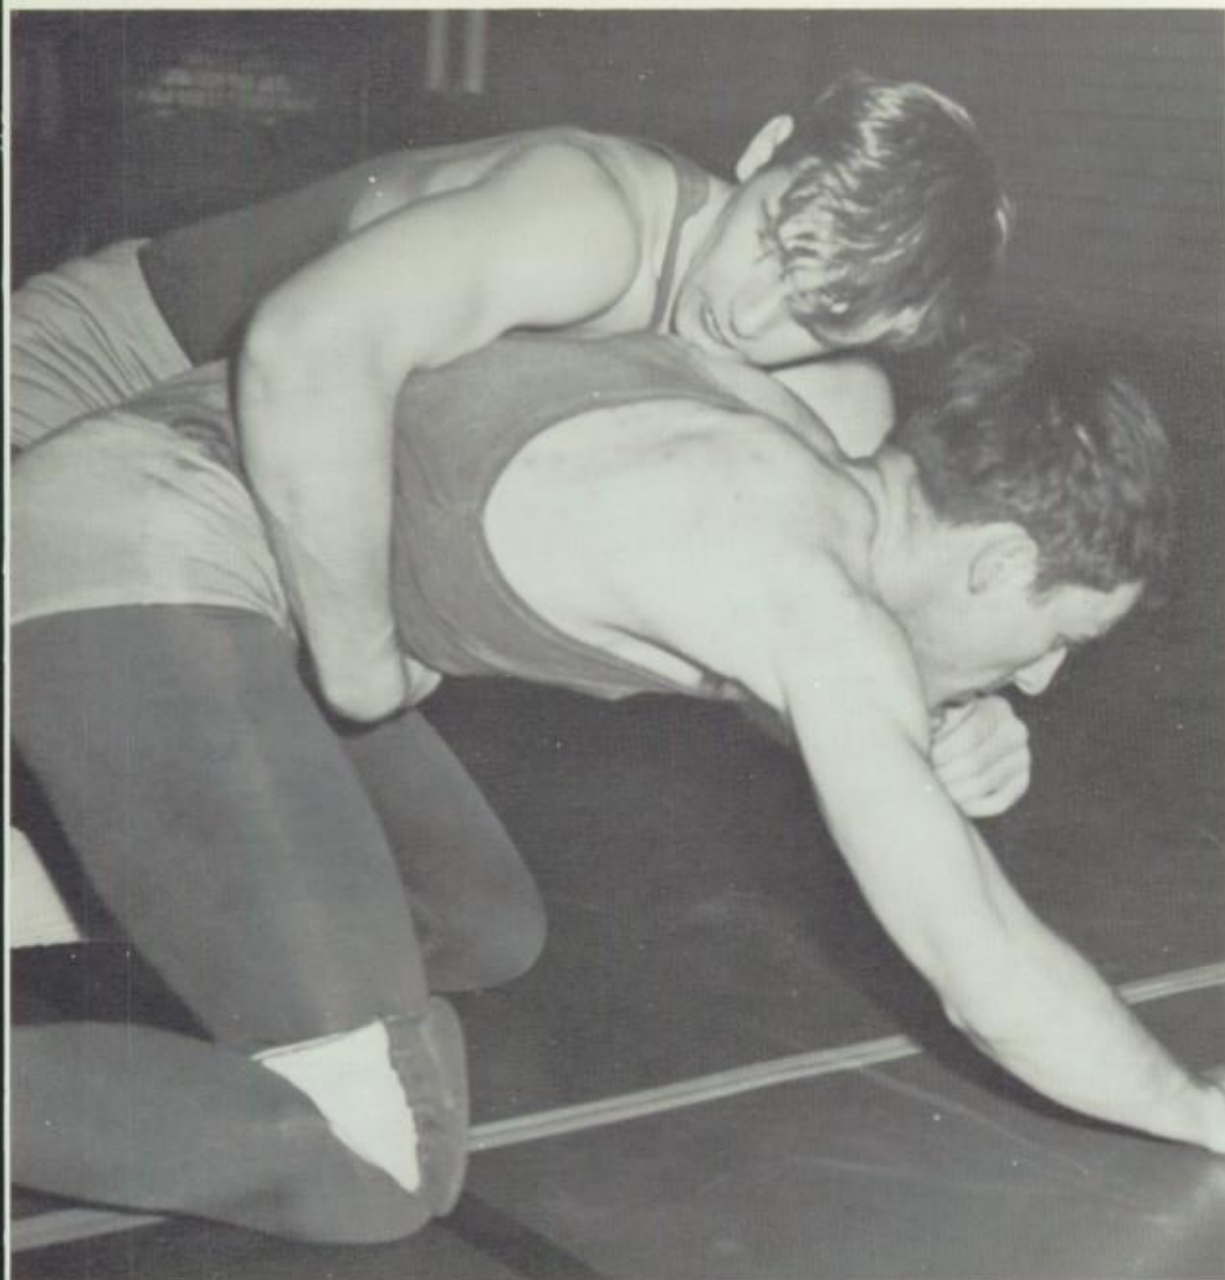

Drive and hustle were the keynotes of the 1964 Wrestling Squad. Constant practice, consisting of vigorous exercise and technical instruction, was the main factor enabling this powerful squad to enjoy the success they did. Under the direction of Coach Joseph Wirth, assisted by Mr. Richard Martin, the SHC matmen amassed an excellent 8-4-1 record against some of the finest competition in the area. Facing both traditional league rivals and noted public school foes, the Rebel grapplers showed themselves quite adept at the art of handling their opponents. After two solid victories over Central Catholic, 48-6 and 35-12, only the twin losses to Canevin by the close margins of 29-20 and 28-22 forced the team to relinquish the championship trophy they had possessed for the last two years. The individual excellence of the team, as exemplified in both its senior retiring matmen and their younger counterparts, was firmly established by distinguished victories in the Diocesan Individual Wrestling Championship.

Rick Nerone plays referee for Jack Regan and Ray Brannon in an after school practice session.

Regan (Co-captain), M. Burns (Manager), K. Meyer, J. McDonnell, F. Colantuono, V. Gaetano, J. Gribshaw (Manager), Mr. J. Wirth (Head Coach).

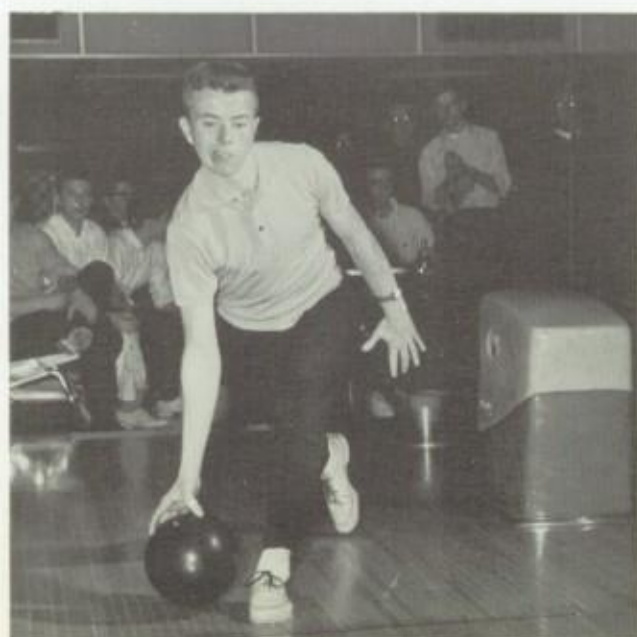

Tim Pack assumes the position of advantage over a Central wrestler in part of the Catholic League match. SHC won by a score of 35 to 12.

Rick Nerone, a standout on this year's squad, prepares to make short work of a Central opponent in the January 26th match.

BOWLING

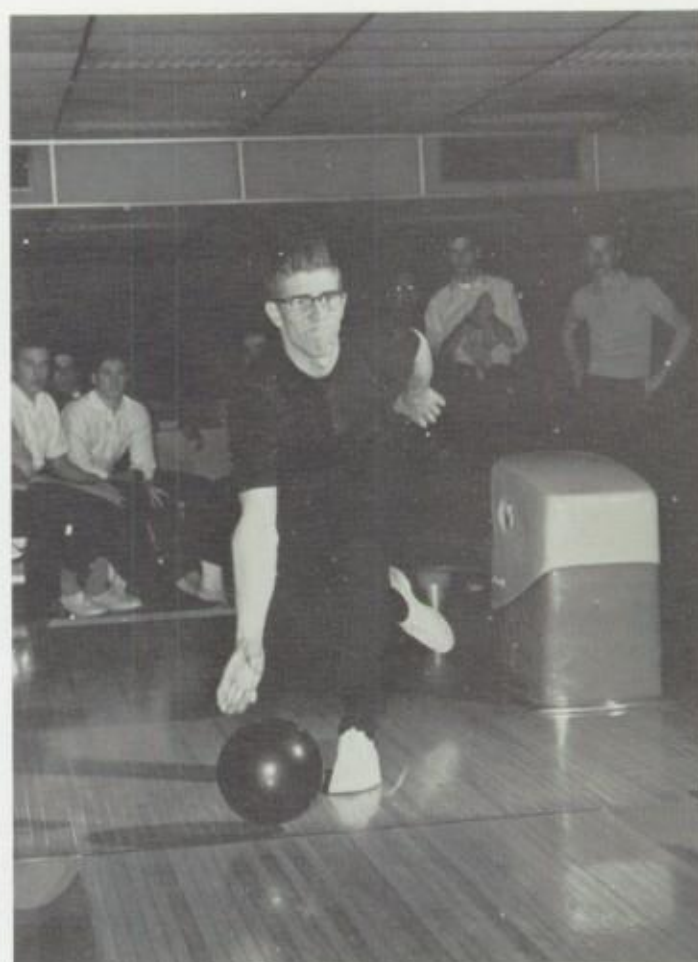

Members of the varsity bowling team take a short break at their first match of the season. The team includes Brother Flavian of Mary (moderator), Jim Wiedt, Jim Farmerie, Ron Schoenstein, Mike Delancy (captain), Mr. Dan Henry (coach), Jim Rooney, and Rich Frandsen.

Jim Rooney strains to make a profitable delivery against the tough North Catholic squad.

Jim Farmerie exhibits good form and poise as he sends a prospective strike down the alley.

Setting an example for the team, Captain Mike Delancy makes a fine delivery.

CROSS COUNTRY

During the regular season the cross-country team became familiar faces around the local area. Here Mike Hampsey toils up a district hill with a rival runner close behind.

Brother Eric Martin ably performs the dual role of coach and moderator for the team. Here he is pinning a meet number on Dave Remington.

One of the highlights of the annual running season is the Tri-State Coaches Meet. South hopefuls, bordered by opponents, eagerly await the signal starting this annual event.

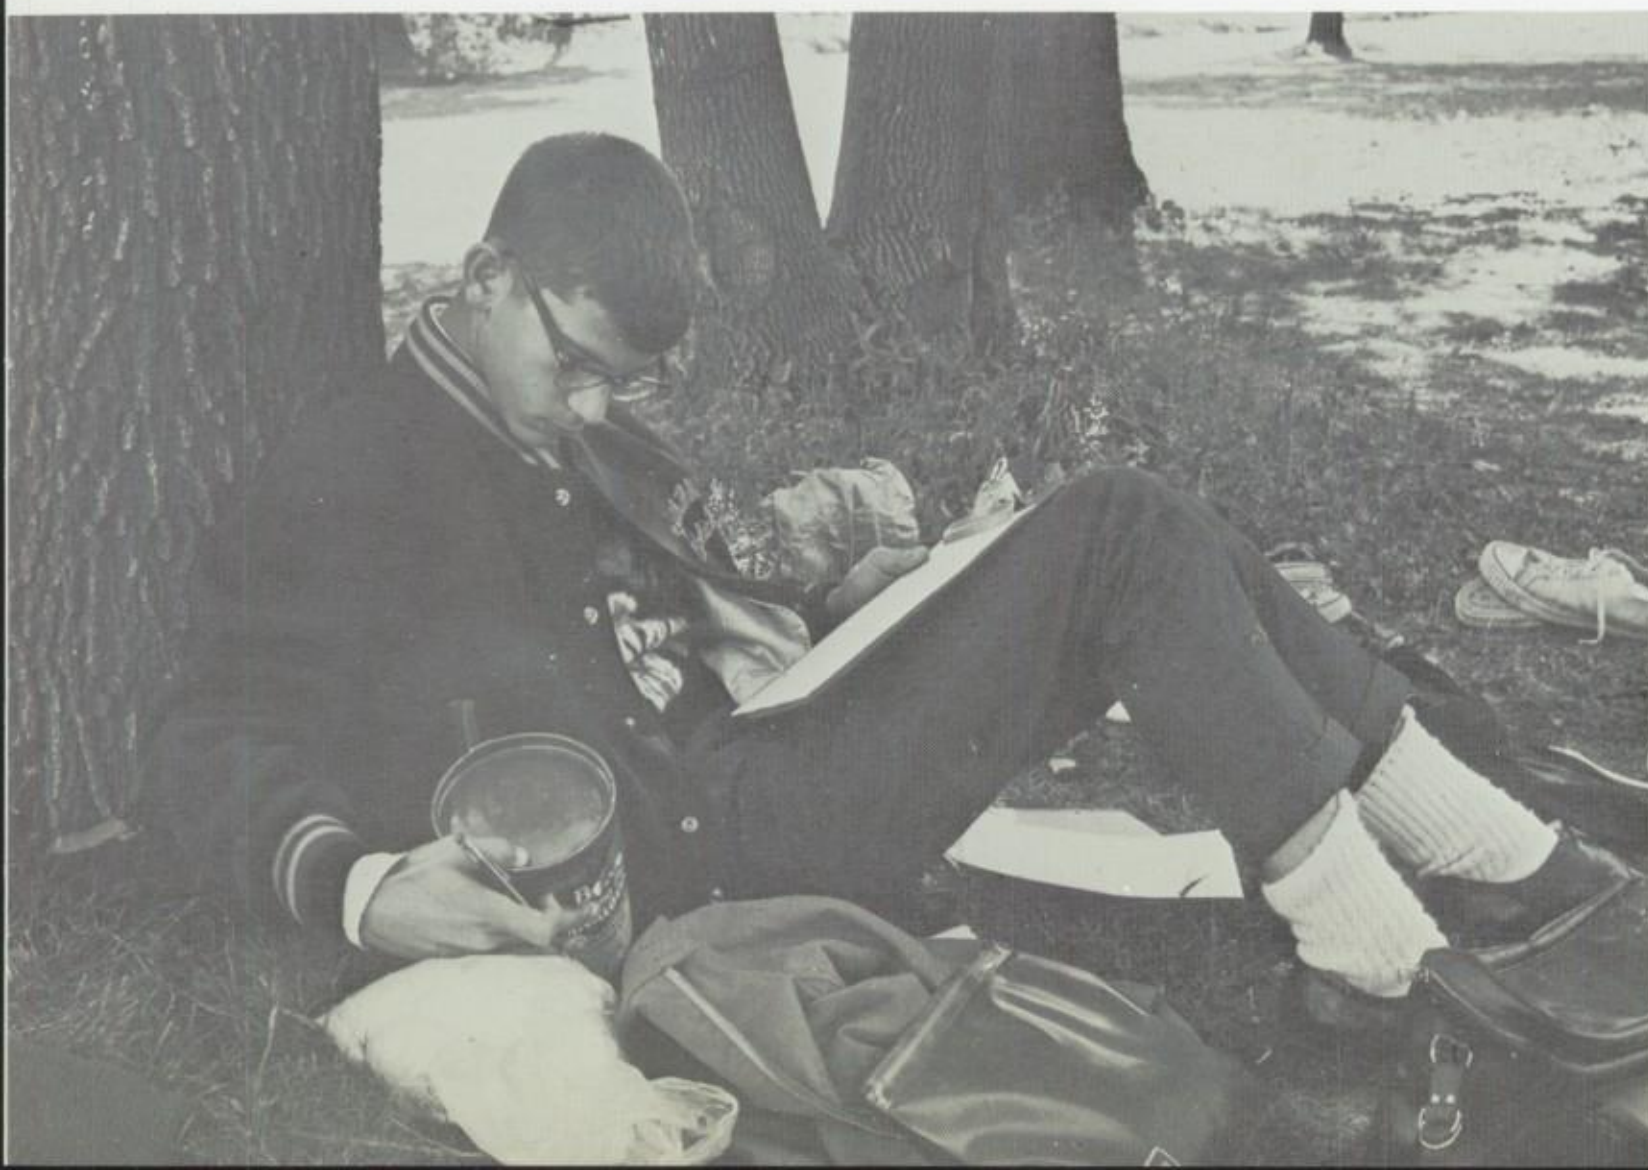

Seen jogging at practice are Senior runners Walt Hensler, Dan Hogan, Dave Remington, Charles Schmidt, Pete Silvester, Rich Crouch, and Ray Kennedy.

Walt Hensler pushes himself for a little extra margin as Brother David Lewis of Central Catholic shouts advice.

One of the calmer sides of cross country is the managerial work. Tom Datillo casually checks the prepared list to determine if all the necessary equipment is on hand.

Brother Eric Martin prepares Walt Hensler for the oncoming meet by taping his ankles. John McCue and Charlie Schmitt likewise ready themselves by various means.

Battling for position with a fast Central opponent, Rich Crouch strains to hold his distance advantage as they near the finish line.

The scrutinizing eye of Brother Eric Martin runs over the results of a recent meet as he checks them with his own records.

Loosening himself up before a crucial meet, Pete Silvester jaunts up a hill as rival coaches and players gather in the background.

Despite a record of six wins and five losses in dual competition, the Rebel Harriers ran well against many of the cross-country powers in the area. Our long-distance team was led by the superb efforts of Walt Hensler, who has broken several course records in the vicinity; he also holds the South Hills Catholic record for the Schenley Park course with a time of 11:49. Other outstanding seniors on the team were: Rich Crouch, Dave Remington, and Charlie Schmidt. They aided the squad in upsetting many strong W.P.I.A.L. teams including Penn Hills, Baldwin, Butler, and the City League champion, Fifth Avenue. Both the jay-vee and freshmen squads finished second in the League Championships, and prospects are bright for next year.

Evidence of a recent cross-country meet is obvious from the scattered equipment littering the foreground and South runners Nick Perella, Alex Opiella, Rich Crouch, Charlie Schmitt, Walt Hensler, and John McCue littering the background.

TRACK

A strong and highly spirited Don Gmitter gets set to launch the discus as SHC fans look on.

Tom Lorenze finishes the 100 yard dash with the speed and style that made him an outstanding SHC runner.

Joe Mazzei strains every muscle before heaving the shot put against North Catholic.

Dave Remington leaps the last hurdle on his way to another victory in the low hurdles against North Catholic.

Rich Machel displays his "fight to the end" spirit in the 100 yard dash against North Catholic.

The 1963 SHC track team, under the able directorship of Messrs. Edward Egan and James Palmer, is an example of untiring effort. Continually seen practicing after school, these athletes constantly strove for the skill which was to bring them a fine reputation in both area and league meets. Participating in such local meets as the Mount Lebanon Invitionals and the Cannonsburg Relays, the SHC runners were lauded by both public and Catholic school opponents alike. Only an overwhelming Central Catholic team hampered what would otherwise have proven to be a championship season for the Rebels. In the Pittsburgh Catholic Relays, April 27, the SHC trackmen placed a strong second, bowing to their Viking adversaries 64½ to 44. With several returning sophomores and juniors, hopes are high for the continuance of the Knight runners' fine record.

Walt Hensler finishes well ahead of two tiring competitors in the mile run in the meet with North Catholic.

south sets pace on cinder trail

Ray Kennedy holds a substantial lead over Rich Davis in the half mile.

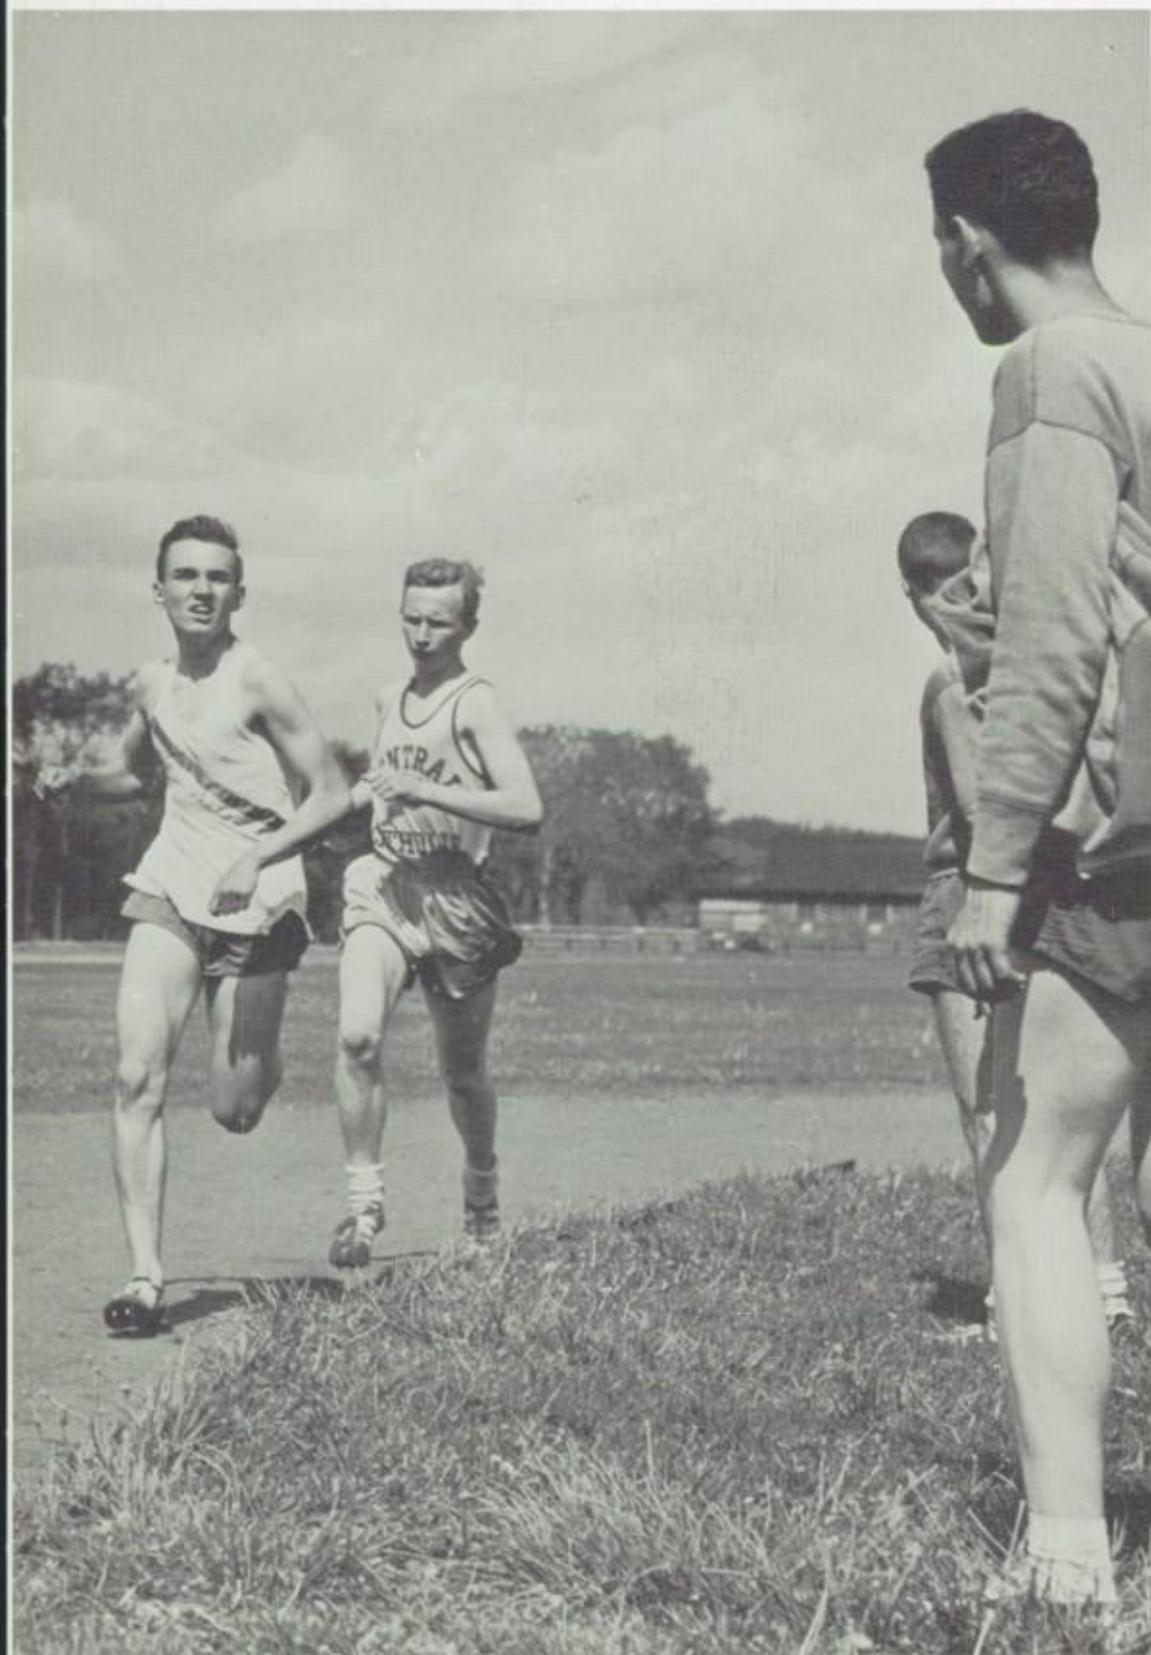

Jim Romanowski clears the bar by inches and helps put SHC well on their way to another victory at the Schenley Oval.

Rich Crouch, Walt Hensler, and Tom Lynch get off to a good start against Central in the mile run but there is still a long way to go.

Walt Hensler still manages to hold a lead over a determined Central runner going into the final stretch of the mile run at the Schenley Oval.

Bob Hobbs challenges Rich Bell for first place in the 100 yard dash as an anxious opponent is forced to settle for third.

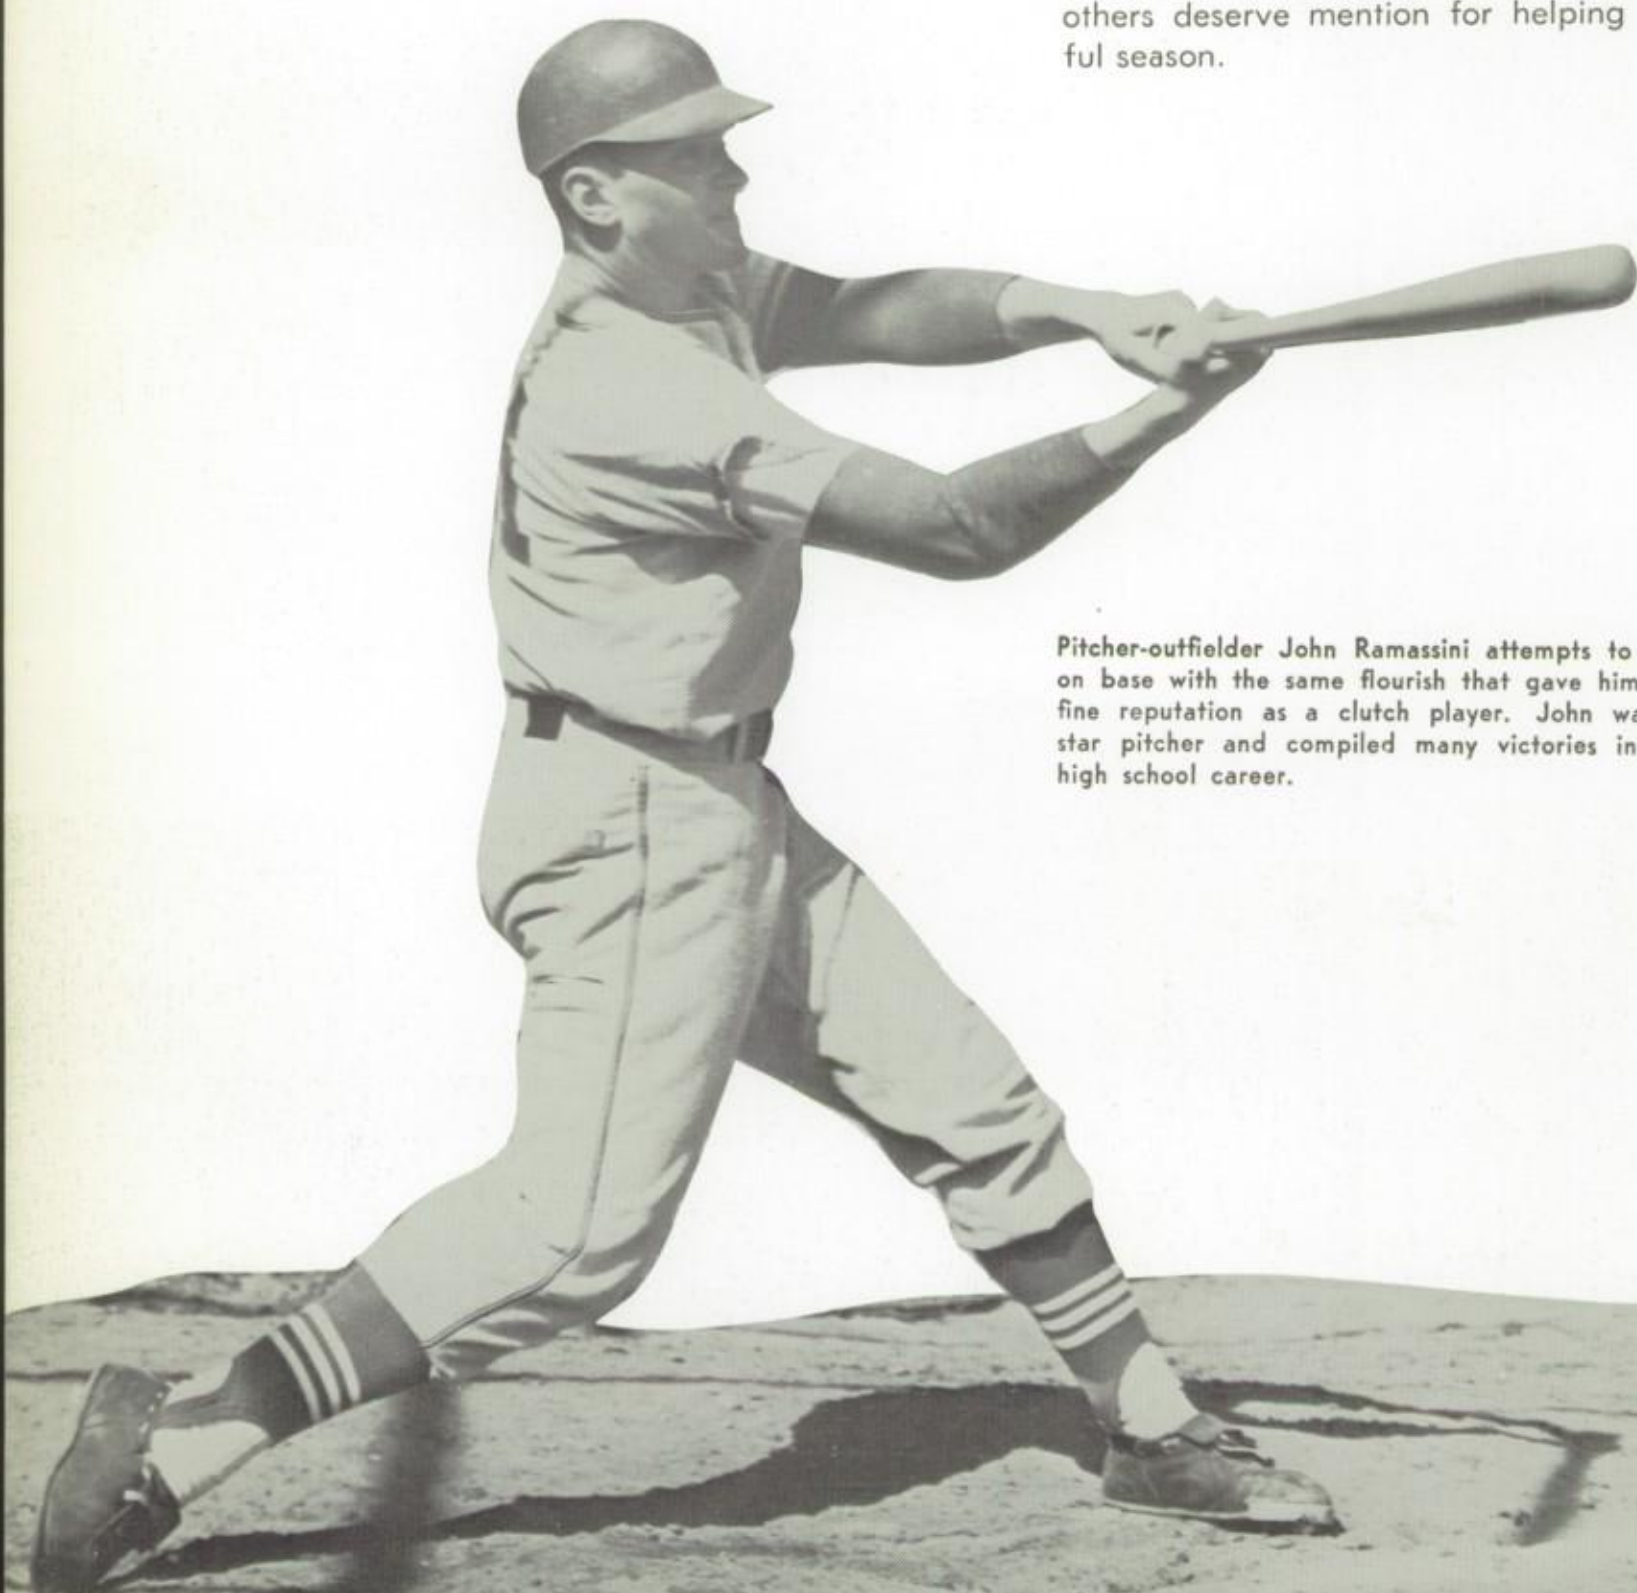

Coach Egan gives last minute instructions to Don Gmitter as other track men look on in the meet against North Catholic.

BASEBALL

After a depressing playoff defeat to North Catholic in 1962, Coach Gerad Conboy brought the team back and took the Catholic "A" League by storm. With very able assistance from Coach Robert Connolly, Coach Conboy chose the most adept ballplayers in the school. It paid off well as the team compiled an excellent 10-4 record. Outstanding performances were given by a number of SHC players. John Ramassini's pitching can be cited as a definite factor in the championship drive. The rugged catching of Dominic Fazzone was an inspiration to everyone. Strong-armed Joe Schratz sent many opponents back to their bench wondering how the ball ever beat them to first base. Bernie Dombrosky served as a jack-of-all-trades with his fine pitching and clutch hitting. Many others deserve mention for helping provide us with a successful season.

Pitcher-outfielder John Ramassini attempts to get on base with the same flourish that gave him his fine reputation as a clutch player. John was a star pitcher and compiled many victories in his high school career.

Displaying the "extra" effort put forth by the SHC squad is Renald Rossa, as he strives to beat out an infield hit against a formidable North Catholic team.

Mister Robert Connolly, assistant coach of the '63 Knights, shouts encouragement to Hank Nerone, who is attempting to score from second base against Shadyside Academy. Mister Connolly built up a fine coaching record during his stay at South Catholic.

south catholic

In September of 1960, I initiated my secondary education at South Hills Catholic. An inquisitive freshman, I was eager to explore the various dimensions of this unfamiliar environment. Not only did I examine the modern edifice but I also investigated the academic and extra-curricular facilities. New friends came easily and I soon lost all fear of the unfamiliar Brothers. Because of a championship basketball squad and a senior brother on the football team, I acquired what might be termed "School Spirit."

Having emerged victorious over Latin and Algebra I, I returned September of the following year. School policy instilled in my mind during my first year led me to a closer relationship with the faculty. It also guided me to a more serious attitude toward my studies. During this, my second year, I believe that South Hills Catholic became as much a part of me as I was of it.

Hundreds of new friends, immeasurable experiences, and perplexing new studies accompanied me through my junior year. Even with the nuns in grade school, I had never found such devotion to the students as that which was evidenced by the Christian Brothers. Because our school, dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary, stresses our spiritual development as well as our mental and physical education, I knew that I could approach any faculty member with any problem I may have had.

Being President of the Student Council this past year has been the most exciting experience of my life. I have acquired many valuable skills not taught in the classroom and many lessons learned only through experience. In June it will be with great pride and honor that I accept the diploma of the school I served and with great remorse that I must depart from my classmates and teachers.

MICHAEL GANNON
Student Council President

Chris Taylor and escort Jim Farmerie crown Jeff Sullivan and Mary Gogly, King and Queen of the Junior Prom. The "coronation" marked the climax of a delightful social event.

A crowded dance floor, bustling tables, and an energetic band—all the necessary elements for a successful Junior Prom, as was the case for this SHC event held in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Webster Hall.

JUNIOR PROM

The 1963 Junior Prom was held in the Georgian Room of the Webster Hall Hotel between the hours of 8:00 and 11:00 P.M. The theme of the prom was "Moonlight and Shadows." The music for this gala affair was provided by Barron Elliot and his orchestra. Some of the outstanding features were the Prom Committee dance and a number of Moonlight Melodies. The evening was climaxed by the selection of Jeff Sullivan as king of the prom and his date, Mary Gogly as queen. The results of the many months of preparation and long hours of work were realized by the wonderful attendance of 160 couples who thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

Brother Bernard and the Prom chaperons take a break from the evening's festivities. These parents include: Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Reitmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Farmerie, Mr. and Mrs. Munkittrich, and Mr. and Mrs. Kilburg.

Caught in the midst of an unusual act of gallantry is Bob O'Neill, who, with Darlene Maurice, Bob Maloney, and Patsy Comstock, is about to enter Webster Hall for the Junior Prom.

Members of the Junior class and their dates receive programs, souvenirs of the evening, from the gracious mothers who chaperoned the Prom.

CHRISTMAS PROM

The high point of the Holiday social season was the second annual Christmas Prom—"Candlelight and Gold." Pictured here is a segment of that crowd which helped make this Student Council project a huge success.

One of the principle events of the Prom was the selection of the King and Queen. Here "King" Denny Kelly places the crown on his date, "Queen" Christy Sander.

Hurrying to the vast array of food before them are these hungry prom attendants. The buffet dinner was one of the unique features of the holiday dance.

Scarcely recognizable with the many decorations about it was the SHC gym, site of the prom. Resplendent with trees, ornaments, and lights, it presented a glittering reminder of the current season to the appreciative crowd. Seen here are Juniors Jim Cummins, Tim Dundon, and their dates admiring the huge snowman centerpiece, the hit of the prom.

The Christmas Prom, which lasted from 8:00 to 12:00, was left reluctantly by all. Seen here culminating their evening are John Lavezoli, Bill Hoffmann and dates.

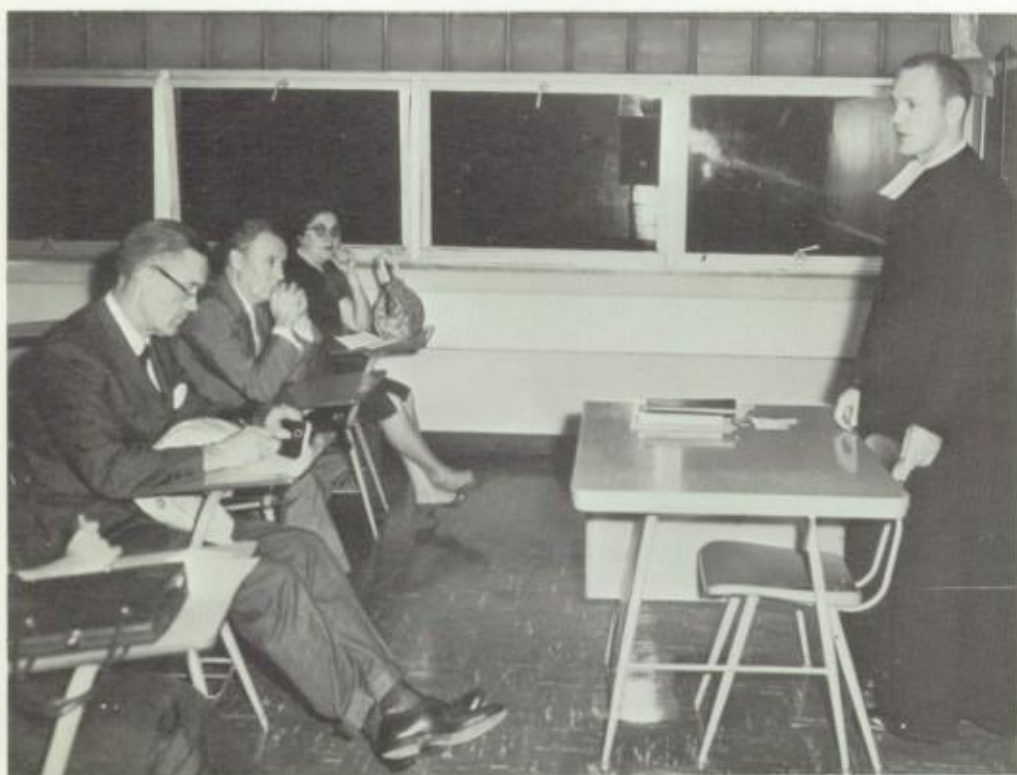

Continuous refreshments were provided for the couples. These varied from several choices of punch to snack trays on each table. Here Dave Reitmeyer, George Ferito, Dick Land, and dates pause at the punch bowl.

CANDLELIGHT AND GOLD

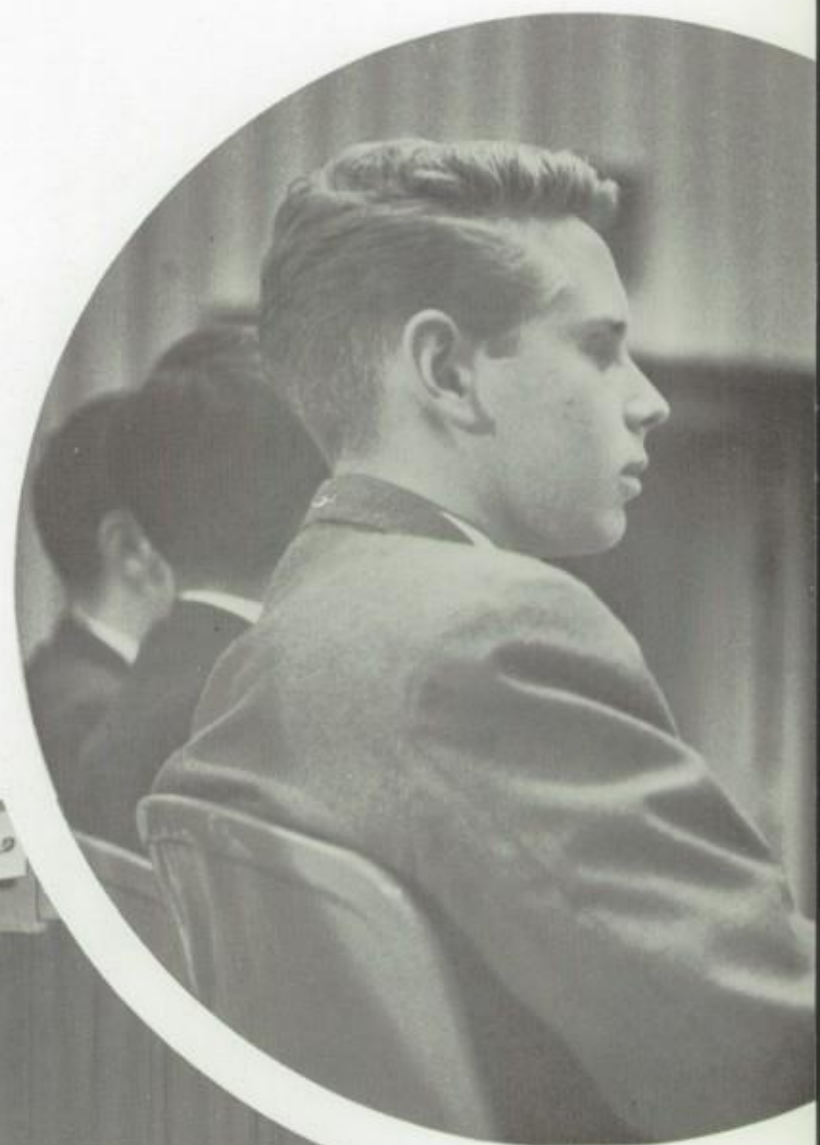

The chief constituent of any successful prom is a talented band. The El Rays ably filled this facet for the Holiday Prom. Coupling instrumental ability with the talented singing quartet pictured above, the group gave enjoyment and variety to the many attending couples.

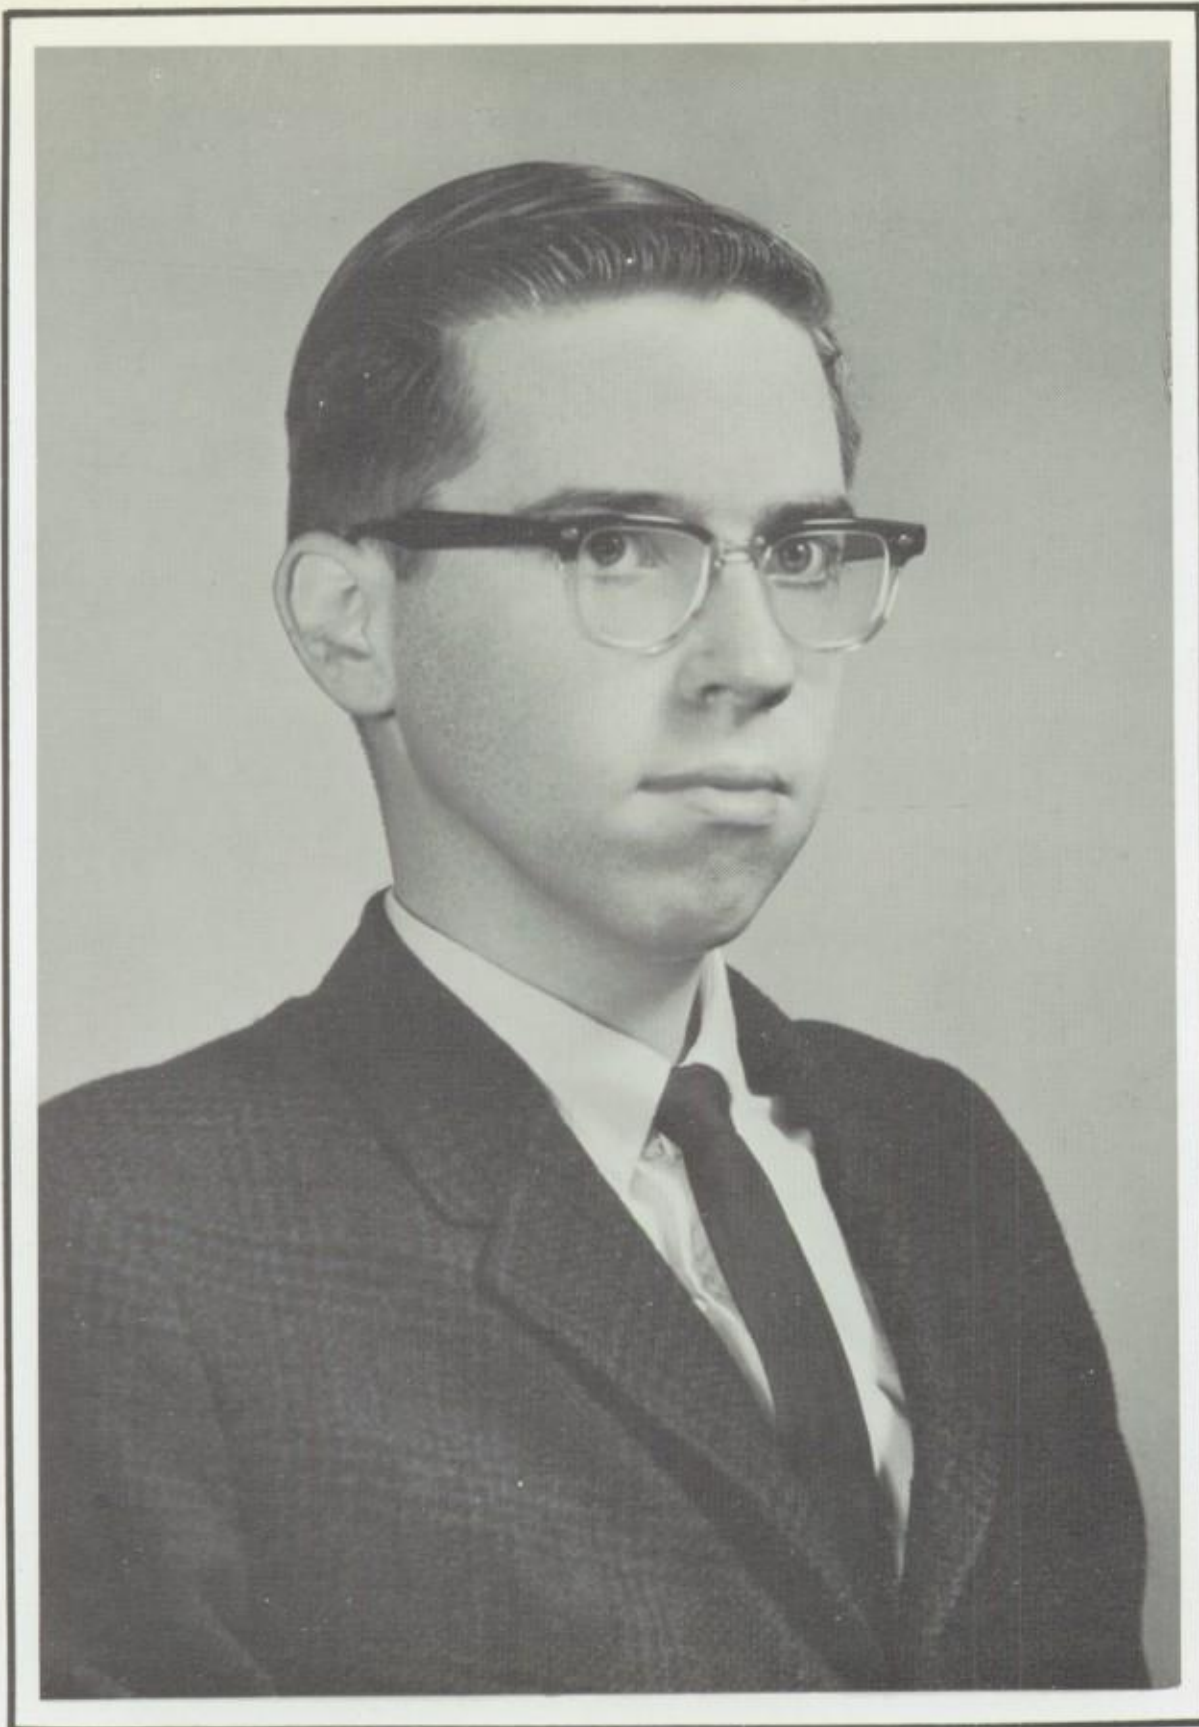

Brother Stephen addresses a group of parents of math students at one of the Parent-Teacher's Nights held at the end of each report period. Association between parents and faculty members is valuable in promoting student welfare.

Pete Silvester attends an assembly presented by St. Vincent College. The college assemblies sponsored by the administration aided interested SHC Seniors in their choice of post-high school education.

Father Manard of Toner celebrates Mass for the SHC student body on the First Friday of October. Pat Ward and Joe Cartwright served the Mass.

EDWARD M. RYAN (1946-1963)

Ed Ryan's release from his wheelchair came last Tuesday night just two hours before 1963 itself passed into eternity. Seventeen years, ten months might ordinarily be considered a pitifully short lifetime, but for Ed it was quite long enough to complete a unique mission on earth by courageously bearing a cross of almost complete physical helplessness while at the same time giving the rest of us an invaluable example of cheerful resignation buoyed up by the grace of God. His was no withdrawn, self-pitying spirit. Far from it, his interests were both wide and lively and, despite the fact that he knew the truth about himself, he studied with the care and ardor of one who anticipated a long stay on this earth. Thus it was that he died as he had lived, an Honor Student in the eyes of both God and his classmates. May he rest forever in peace, and may he at the same time keep us in his prayers.

JOHN CAMPBELL94.2

DANIEL DARRAGH93.6

In every field of endeavor there are those who excel, those to whom success seems innate and who are justly recognized for their achievements. So too should the premise hold true in scholastic life. The students pictured here have best utilized their God-given faculties and the resources of the school to maintain the highest scholastic averages in the past four years. The deep and expansive knowledge they have received is in itself reward enough. However, in this section a final salute is paid them as a sign of high respect and admiration from their teachers and fellow students.

PETER SILVESTER93.2

HONOR STUDENTS

Marching on what may be considered their greatest day, the seniors enter the Penn Theater for the reception of their diplomas.

Commencement exercises began with the Baccalaureate Mass at Saint Bernard's Church on Friday, June 5. The following Sunday, diplomas were received by the eager students. Before their entrance into the Penn Theater, instructions were issued to the graduates by Brother Bernard.

Reflecting the religious spirit which has formed the backbone of their high school life, the seniors are shown here assembled for the Baccalaureate Mass at St. Bernard's Church.

Realities become memories and blackboard learning becomes reality for several hundred South Hills Catholic Seniors every spring. "As I see South Hills Catholic" becomes "As I saw South Hills Catholic." The graduates leave behind happy memories and readily face the responsibilities of college and adult life. As the former seniors leave the Penn Theater in June, their high school education is transformed from a daily "burden" to a necessary foundation for the fulfillment of a chosen vocation.

Having received their diplomas, the seniors now listen to a few parting words from the Principal, Brother Alfred.
